The Houston Chronicle says Bryan has been the Moses of the Democratic party and now it wants a Joshua.

Wonder if Roosevelt will establish an Ananias Club department in the magazine of which he is to become associate editor?

The South's share of this year's corn crop is over eight hundred million bushels. That looks like she raises someting besides cotton.

If Chairman Mack really undertakes to keep the political fight up for four years from National headquarters he will find the people getting mighty tired of it.

If Taft is sensible he will keep his hands off the Senatorial fight in Ohio. Still we would like some influence brought to bear strong enough to defeat Foraker for re-nomination.

The States which were neglected in the naming of the first battleships are getting even in the character of the war vessels that are now being named after them.

It looks like the Government is not going to make out a case in that Flagler railroad peonage case. It's the fashion now to make charges of peonage against Southern development enterprises.

It is well that Governor Patterson's friends persuaded him not to send that challenge. There is enough excitement and factional strife in Tennessee now without creating more, to the danger of other lives.

If we could only see Foraker defeated for the Senate and Cannon lose out in the fight for the Speakership it would be great consolation for the defeat in the presidential election; but we are afraid to hope for such good things.

"The night riders may not be made up of the worst people of Tennessee after all," says an exchange. Perhaps so; but the higher they stand socially and as to education the severer ought to be the punishment of the guilty ones.

In the Democratic State primary in Georgia last July over 200,000 votes were cast. In the late election only 133,721 votes were cast for presidential candidates of all the parties. This shows the effect primaries have in strong Democratic States in reducing the vote of the party at the polls.

NORFOLK & SOUTHERN

Corporation Commissioners Return From Trip of Inspection Over Carolina Lines.

DAY'S NEWS IN RALEIGH

The Baseball Outlook—Two Difficulties in the Country—Craven County Man Gets Executive Clemency—Public High Schools.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 14.—Chairman Franklin McNeill and Commissioner's S. L. Rogers and E. C. Beddingfield, of the North Carolina Corporation Commission, returned last night from an inspection trip over the North Carolina lines of the Norfolk & Southern Railroad Co., notably the lines from Raleigh to Washington and from Washington to Newbern.

It was a regular official inspection and the Commissioners, while making no official statement, intimate that condition of trackage, rolling stock and station equipments were found in very satisfactory condition, a credit to the receivership management.

Raleigh baseball fans, headed by President J. B. Pearce of the Raleigh baseball Association, are indulging strongly in the hope of getting into the Carolina Association for the next season through Columbia dropping out of the South Atlantic and coming into the Carolina League, thereby making an opening for Raleigh to get in also. There is a manifest determination to have league ball in Raleigh next season in some way.

Forty-five thousand dollars appropriation by the State toward the support of the public High Schools established in 81 counties the past two years was distributed in warrants on the State Treasury today by the State Superintendent for the school terms now in progress. There are 159 of these schools. Thirteen new ones were established during the year and ten opened the year previous were discontinued because the attendance was below the minimum established by the act making the State appropriation. The schools are declared to be attaining a remarkably high degree of success.

A new enterprise for Greensboro, the Carolina Brokerage Co., receives a charter, the capital being $50,000 authorized and $12,000 subscribed by G. T. McLamb, E. E. Mendenhall, J. W. Jones, J. W. Patterson and C. C. McLean.

Edward Carlton Duncan, Jr., 12-year-old son of Hon. E. C. Duncan, died at his father's home here about midnight after an illness with typhoid fever with complications. He was an exceptionally bright boy of splendid physique, so much so that he lived for days and days after the attending physicians announced that there was no hope for him. The remains will be carried Sunday morning to Beaufort, the family home of Mr. Duncan, for interment Sunday afternoon.

Because he stepped on a girl's toe in the midst of a big quilting party dance at Forestville, this county, Lum Holding, colored, was set upon by Turner Evans, the girl's escort, with a party of friends, dragged down a stairway feet foremost and, in a scuffle that followed Holding was cut in the abdomen so that he died during the day in a Raleigh hospital. Evans was captured and jailed in Raleigh.

Seventy bird shot discharged from a double-barrel shotgun by James Turner were picked out of the back of Rob Turner, colored, by Dr. Buffalo, at Garner today. James Turner is a well known young white man and he and the negro had quarreled, each being on the hunt for a gun to shoot the other. The young white man, only 19 years old, found a gun first, met the negro youth who ran, and as he dashed into a clump of bushes, he was peppered with the shot from the white boy's gun. He will recover.

Governor Glenn makes an order for D. W. Dowdy, the well known young white man who was sentenced to two years on the roals in Craven county two years ago when the crusade against "blind tiger" whiskey selling was on, to be given his liberty December 20th, thereby cutting the term in half, the young man to show at each term of the court for two years that he is maintaining a good character. The sentence was regarded by the Governor as excessive.

Negro Held on Suspicion.

At one of the fertilizer factories up the river before day Friday morning Officer W. G. Brinkley arrested Stephen James, a negro thought to be one of those implicated in the assault upon Officer J. E. Batchelor and the rescue of a prisoner from him on Thursday night as he was on his way to the station to go on duty, the particulars of which are remembered by readers of this paper. James has marks of nippers on his wrist and also an abrasion on the face which Officer Batchelor is quite certain he inflicted in the melee, but he is unable to identify him positively. The prisoner is being held to await further developments.

THE NEW WOOLVIN BUILDING.

The above illustration from the architect's drawings is a faithful representation of the handsome three-story business block of stores being erected by Mr. James F. Woolvin and as the structure will appear when completed on the site of the old Court House, on Princess, between Second and Third streets.

The building is decidedly one of the greatest public improvements going on in Wilmington at the present time and was undertaken by Mr. Woolvin several months ago when the outlook was anything like as bright as it is now, emphasizing the faith that the builder has in the town and of property on Princess street, now one of the leading business thoroughfares down town. Plans for the building were prepared by Mr. Burett H. Stephens, the architect and engineer with offices in the I. O. O. F. building, and it will be one of the most modern and conveniently appointed business houses in the city. Mr. Woolvin is now considering the laying of the floors with "terrazzo" a compound of polished marble laid in cement, making the building with its steel frame practically fire-proof.

The building fronts 83 feet three inches on Princess street and will be rented as one large store with four entrances or will be divided into four or in pairs as the tenant or tenants may elect. It will be solid stone front with plate glass windows and prism transoms, the latter being an invention of recent discovery by which the light is reflected from the front to all parts of the building. Then there will also be skylights and ventilators in the rear, so that nothing in this respect will be lacking. The depth will be 66 feet and there will be no more eligibly located or more modern stores in the city than these. Mr. Woolvin has received a number of propositions looking to their lease, but will not decide as to a tenant until the structure is nearer completed, the work towards which will be pushed with all possible dispatch.

The upper floors of the building will be allowed to remain incomplete for the present and will be arranged to suit the tenant. There is talk of converting the third floor into a ball room or assembly and club rooms for some fraternal order, but these plans are all in embryo as yet.

The building will have quite an imposing front, towering 11 feet above the Southern Electric Company's store on the west and seven or eight feet taller than Mr. Woolvin's new building occupied by himself as funeral parlors and offices on the east side. It will be a credit to the city and to the owner, who has demonstrated his faith in Wilmington in dollars and cents rather than conversation and loud acclaim.

GAME PLAYED ON MONDAY

Meet of A. & M. Second Team and Wilmington Necessarily Postponed Yesterday—Visitors Remain Over for Tomorrow's Meet.

The players being neither mud turtles nor crawfish, the football game yesterday afternoon between the strong elevens of Wilmington and the A. & M. College, was of necessity postponed on account of the very inclement weather and the game will be played instead tomorrow afternoon.

When it was realized yesterday morning that there would be no chance to play the game, telephonic communication was had with Dr. Hill, president of the A. & M., with regard to the team's remaining over until Monday so that the game could be played. In consideration of the expense already incurred by the local team preparing for the game, Dr. Hill willingly gave his consent and the delay is serving only to whet the appetite of the men for the contest.

In order that the game on Monday can be finished in ample time for the players to leave the city for Raleigh on the 7 o'clock train, it will be started at 3 o'clock, instead of 3:30, as originally intended.

The management of the Wilmington team had to go to large expense to get the A. & M. team to come to this city to meet the locals, and this has been considerably added to by the team's being forced to remain over for two entire days. It will require liberal patronage on the part of the public to defray the expenses, and it is hoped that the players will find that their efforts to furnish to the citizens of Wilmington first-class sport were justified and appreciated. The men have been practicing regularly for a month past and they are now in fine condition to put up a game fight. The visiting players are a husky lot and it can be seen that the locals will have a hard job on their hands to prevent defeat. Both elevens have been consistently and systematically trained under expert coaches and the men are on to all the fine points of the game. The admission will be 50 cents, this including the grandstand. No extra charge will be made for vehicles.

The A. & M. players are a clever set of young gentlemen and they are being given a cordial welcome to the city by many friends and former A. & M. students. Many informal courtesies are being extended to the visitors and they appear to be enjoying their stay to the fullest.

For the benefit of the many Wilmingtonians who do not understand the game as well as they like, an expert with the megaphone has been engaged to announce in full hearing of all, after each play, just the status of the respective teams. This affords an excellent opportunity for all to learn the game and follow it with all the interest and enthusiasm of the most ardent devotee.

DISTRICT MEETING ENDS

Social Session of Junior Order United American Mechanics, by Two Councils Last Night—Address by State Councilor.

The district meeting of the Junior Order, United American Mechanics, which has been in session during the past two days, beginning with the opening exercises at the Academy of Music Friday night, terminated last evening with a delightful social gathering at the council hall on Market street, participated in by members of the local lodges and a number of visiting Juniors, including Professor Chas. E. Brewer, who spoke most interestingly of the success of the meeting.

The inclement weather prevented the host of visitors expected from councils throughout the district, however, the interest and enthusiasm manifested by the members of George Washington and Jeff Davis councils, occasioned many complimentary remarks from Professor Brewer, who stated that it was the most successful to be the first gathering of the kind to be held by a district that he ever attended.

Woodus Kellum, Esq., an enthusiastic Junior, and a member of one of the local councils, following the short address of Professor Brewer, spoke very pleasantly of the success of the order and was given much applause.

Delightful refreshments were served and the gathering was a most enjoyable one in every respect. Professor Brewer with members of a committee composed of Woodus Kellum, Esq., L. Clayton Grant, Esq., Messrs. W. W. Galloway, E. C. Woodbury, N. J. Williams and W. E. Yopp, enjoyed an oyster roast at the Sound yesterday, this entertainment being a part of the programme of the district meeting.

Small Dwelling Destroyed.

A small frame cottage located at corner of Thirteenth and Dawson streets, owned and occupied by Pierce Murphy, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The fire department responded to an alarm from box 55 at 6:15 A. M., but the remoteness of the property from the water limits prevented their assistance. The loss is estimated at $150 with insurance.

ARTILLERY SERVICE

Question of Wilmington Light Infantry's Entrance to be Settled Tuesday Night.

FROM ADJUTANT GENERAL

Thinks it Quite Proper Wilmington Should Join Reserves—Letter From President-elect Wm. H. Taft as to Inauguration.

The question of whether or not the Wilmington Light Infantry will go into the Coast Artillery service as a part of the National Coast Artillery Reserve will be definitely decided by the company at a meeting to be held Tuesday night of this week and local military interest is centered just now in what will probably be the action taken at this meeting.

The officers of the company are anxious that the Reserve Corps, as well as any of the veterans, would be present and advise with the active members on the question. As indicated by a letter just received by the Adjutant General, the question will have to be definitely decided on Tuesday night and it is being generally discussed.

It is generally known that even now the Light Infantry away from home is designated only by the position it holds in the National Guard as Company C, Second Regiment, and that it is now and always will be known locally as the Wilmington Light Infantry, so that the argument as to the company's losing its individuality seems ineffective. The company has been chartered legally and owns its property under the name of the Wilmington Light Infantry and the intention of changing the name of the historic organization has never been considered. Assuming Coast Artillery service instead of infantry service will not change the name and it would seem appropriate that Wilmington, being one of the principal seaports of the South should be represented in the Coast Artillery Reserve, particularly as the city has one of the most important forts so near.

It is pointed out that the question is one of whether the service rendered by the company in time of war would be in defense of its own coast or possibly in some far-away country as a part of the infantry. When the war between the States was declared, the first assignment of the Light Infantry was to Fort Caswell and it would seem still appropriate that it should be assigned to defend the gateway to its very home. Those who have considered the question feel that the relatives of soldiery would much prefer having them at a nearby post in time of war, rather than the possibility of some far-away country or in some recently acquired insular possession. The letter from Adjutant General Robertson to Captain Robertson, under date November 12th, is as follows:

"Dear Captain:—Your letter of November 11th is all right. I had no reason to doubt that your delay was due to the fact that you were giving the subject in question very serious and deliberate consideration, which I think is the way the matter ought to be treated. It will be perfectly satisfactory if you can reach a conclusion and advise me by the 25th. If I did not have some important engagements next week, I would do myself the pleasure of going to Wilmington for a conference with you and others who are interested.

"Of course there was never any intention of leaving Wilmington out of the proposed corps. I know of my personal knowledge that you have the best kind of material from which to draw, and your people have always been enthusiastic over your local military organization.

"Very respectfully,
"THOS. R. ROBERTSON.
"Adjutant General."

The National government is just now taking great interest in the coast defences and it is reasonable to expect that the equipment of the Wilmington Light Infantry as an Artillery Reserve would be of the best.

In this connection the following letter just received by the commandant of the W. L. I. will be read with interest:

"Hot Springs, Virginia,
"November 10, 1908.

"My Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 5th of November, and to say in reply that I shall be glad to meet the members of the Wilmington Light Infantry in case they visit Washington at the time of the inauguration. I thank you for writing, and for your good wishes.

"Sincerely yours,
"WM. H. TAFT."

Will Wed Today.

Announcement is made of the forthcoming marriage of Mr. David Adrian Mathews, a son of Mr. Nicholas Mathews, of Magnolia, N. C., and Miss Leona Alexander, a daughter of Mrs. Alice Alexander, the ceremony to take place this evening at the home of the bride's mother in the northern part of the city.

The annual Ten Day Bargain Sale at Polvogt's will begin Wednesday, the 18th, with double trading stamps. **

GRIDIRON RESULTS

Many Teams Chased the Elusive Oval in Blinding Snow Yesterday Afternoon.

SCORES ON MANY FIELDS

Virginia's Sixth Victory From Georgetown—Chicago and Cornell Tie. Indians Defeat Pennsy.—Princeton Closes Inglorious Season.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov. 14.—Virginia today won her sixth victory from Georgetown by a score of 6 to 0. The game between the old gridiron rivals was gruelling and was played on a snow covered field in a blinding storm.

Virginia showed clearly her superiority over Georgetown, although many of the factors which usually entered into previous victories were lacking. Fumbling was frequent on both sides and open field running was impossible. Virginia's massive warriors were formidable and showed up the weakness of her opponents in line plunging.

Stanton, Virginia's right half back, played brilliantly and scored his team's only touchdown in the first part of the second half. Virginia's backs took the ball through Georgetown's line after a series of straight line plunges and fake plays, carrying the pigskin to Georgetown's 20-yard line; then on a delayed forward pass Honaker lost Anton, the ball was taken around Georgetown's right end to her 10-yard line and in two straight line-plunges the ball went through the goal. Virginia's rooters flanked on the left side of the field grew wild in cheering. Yancey kicked the goal.

Georgetown's only chance to score came at the end of the first half on a kick by Georgetown when one of her men dropped the ball and the Virginia squad conquered it. A penalty for Virginia and a series of line plunges gave Georgetown the ball on Virginia's three-yard line but the locals could not break down Virginia's massive line. Virginia played a safe game after making her touchdown. The line-up:

Princeton Closes Ingloriously.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 14.—Princeton today closed an inglorious football season by a defeat at the hands of Yale by the score of 11 to 6. Outplayed in the first half and with the score of 6 to 0 against them, the Yale eleven came back determined for the second half and simply carried the Princetonians off their feet.

Working like a well oiled piece of machinery in the opening half the Orange and Black returned for the second session to show only spasmodic flashes of the brilliancy displayed earlier in the day. With Yale, it was a different story. Entering a contest for the first time since the sweeping switching of the men after the Brown game last Saturday there was some anxiety in the Yale camp as to the outcome of the game today, but the work of Yale improved and eventually burst upon the tired and weakened Princeton eleven like an overwhelming flood and carried it down to defeat.

Pennsylvania the Winner.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 14.—Outtackled, out-punted, out-played and out-generaled Michigan went down to defeat before Pennsylvania today by the score of 29 to 0. This makes the third successive defeat Michigan has received at the hands of Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania interference was impregnable and the play of Michigan was decidedly erratic.

Throughout the first half which ended 6 to 0 in Pennsylvania's favor, Michigan played stubbornly making up for their errors by frequent long gains. But in the second period of play they weakened and the line could not then resist the relentless attack of the visiting back field. The first touchdown made by Pennsylvania was one of the most brilliant examples of the forward pass ever witnessed on Ferry Field.

Chicago and Cornell.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Chicago fought an even battle with Cornell today, the score being 6 to 6 at the end of the fastest game played in the West this season. Outweighed and outplayed on straight football in the first half, Chicago gave an exhibition of speed and involved play in the second that bewildered the Ithacans and sent the ball across the Cornell goal. The game was the final one to be played in Chicago.

The Harvard Game.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 14.—Harvard's offense overcame the stubborn Dartmouth defense in the last part of the second half of their annual football in the stadium today and by

EFFECT OF CARMACK MURDER.

The unfortunate results of such a tragedy as the killing of ex-Senator Carmack are not confined to grief of family and friends at the untimely and criminal taking of his life. They are much more far-reaching. They bring a stigma upon the community where the deed was done, upon the State and in fact, upon the whole South—whether justly so or not makes no difference as to the fact that such deed has such effect with a great many people of other sections of the country and gives them opportunity to harshly criticise our people and what they call these horrible Southern practices. Here is a specimen of this class of criticism of our Southern people growing out of this deplorable affair which we take from the editorial columns of the New York Tribune:

"The killing of ex-Senator Edward W. Carmack in a street duel at Nashville recalls memories of an earlier era. It moves back the hands on the clock of time a couple of generations. In Andrew Jackson's day, and even later, Southern statesmen and editors had the habit of shooting one another to clinch arguments used on the stump or to emphasize the personalities which creep into political discussions. Frontier standards of personal responsibility still prevailed in the South, and the pistol was considered a better arbiter of injuries to honor or vanity than the law courts or public opinion. That this barbarous idea still lingers is proved by Monday's tragedy in Nashville, as it was proved four years ago in the killing of Mr. Gonzales, the editor of "The Columbia State," by Lieutenant Governor Tillman of South Carolina.

"It is an unhappy commentary on the retardation of enlightenment in the South that leaders of opinion there should still feel that manslaughter is an honorable and effective means of rebuking criticism or settling political controversies. The logical and moral absurdity of the duel has always been that murdering a man does not prove that what he has said is false or what he has done is indefensible. We cannot find in any of the criticisms in which Mr. Carmack is said to have indulged anything mortally offensive to his assailants or anything to give ground for an uncontrollable demand for vengeance. Yet Mr. Carmack thought it necessary to go armed to defend himself against possible attacks, and his assailants were more than ready to encourage an appeal to violence. In the North and wherever a juster view of the limits and conditions of political controversy prevails the affray in Nashville will provoke only abhorrence."

No matter how incorrect the statements of such papers may be in regard to such occurrences in the South or how unjust their criticisms, it must be remembered that such articles are read by thousands of people at the North who take them for Gospel truth—some gladly, and others who are inclined to do the South justice, with regret, but still, through lack of better source of information, put implicit faith in such publications in their own papers.

THE COTTON PRICE QUESTION.

Notwithstanding the efforts being made by cotton farmers' associations to induce the producers to hold back their cotton and the rumors that much cotton is being actually held the receipts are phenomenally high. Our market reports in yesterday's paper showed the receipts of cotton at all ports for the week were 430,000 bales, against 357,243 bales for the corresponding week of last year. If it be true that a large amount of the product is being held by the farmers it indicates that a very large crop has been produced.

This is an intricate proposition that the cotton farmers are up against—the increase of the price of cotton by holding it from the market. We want to see the Southern farmers get a remunerative retuurn for her work in raising cotton, but we have our doubts about their being able to do so by proposed concerted action in withholding it through the warehouse system. There are too many thousand producers to make the scheme a success, we are afraid. The number makes the plan unwieldy and provides loopholes for escape even for those who go into the scheme. The trouble is at the other end of the line—with the buyers or rather the manipulators of the market, who through their big cotton exchanges where futures are dealt in have the power to run prices up or down as suits the side of the market they happen to be on at the time; and the mills, of course join the bears on the exchanges every time there is a movement to depress the price.

While wishing the cotton farmers all success in their movements undertaken in the New Orleans and Memphis conventions to bring about a rise in price, we are afraid that this movement will prove as unsuccessful as the many others which have been started along this line in the past. Southerners should realize that they are the chief victims of the gamblers on the New York stock exchange and stop dealing with its members. In that way they could do the South more good than with all the resolutions and pledges about holding spot cotton.

KAISSER WILLIAM'S SUPPRESSED INTERVIEW.

Kaiser William's remarks in his famous interview has not affected the so-called amicable relations between the German and the British empires; so says Mr. Asquith, the Premier of the latter. He takes an optimistic view of the situation in Europe and thinks that the clouds now darkening the political skies of Southeastern Europe will soon roll away. The row that was made over the publication of the interview with the Emperor in the London Telegraph causes increased interest and curiosity as to the article written for the December Century Magazine by Mr. Hale, a prominent newspaper and magazine writer, entitled "An Evening With Emperor William," and which was suppressed after the London Telegraph's publication had created a sensation in Germany, though the whole of the magazine edition has been printed. The fact that such an unusual course was pursued indicates that the Hale article would have been equally as sensational if not more so. The issue of the magazine will be greatly delayed and the publishers put to great expense, but no doubt they will be compensated for both by the German Government, which would be willing to pay well to have the article suppressed. A copy of that suppressed issue would bring a big price.

WHISTLING AND CHURCH CONTRIBUTIONS.

That Boston preacher who allowed members of his congregation to whistle in church knew what he was about and he made a good thing out of it in a financial way. When the taking of the contribution was begun he announced from the pulpit that any man who put as much as fifty cents in the plate would have the right to whistle. Before the collection was finished there was whistling all over the church. It is charitable to believe that none except those entitled to do so were heard to whistle, though there may be some people so uncharitable as to claim that there was many a whistle which was not represented by a fifty-cent piece in the plate. And there are some chronic kickers who object on the ground that it put the female members of the congregation at a very unfair disadvantage; but that should have no weight as most of the money the women give in the cause of religion or charity comes out of the pocket of husband or father or some other male member of the family who earned it by his labor with hand or head.

The fact that only half of the American battleship fleet visited China gave much umbrage to the people of the Flowery Kingdom. They took it as on insult to their nation. They have been pacified by a statement published in the Official Gazette at Peking that on its way to China fleet encountered a terrible storm and eight of the big vessels have not been heard from since and it is supposed they were lost. This announcement, it is said, was made without consulting the American consular authorities; but since its publication the latter have not considered it necessary to contradict the statement. Well, we suppose this was the easiest way to settle the matter.

Speaker Cannon may attempt to have the tariff revised upward instead of downward; but we don't believe the voters in his party would stand with him on the proposition. It might be a good thing for the Democrats were he and his wing of the Republican party to attempt to force such a measure through Congress.

An exchange remarks that the revision of the tariff by its friends is about to begin. From the tone of the "hearings" before the House Committee it would seem that the present high tariff has none but friends. A curious state of affairs is developing. That low tariff is a principle seems to have been lost sight of.

The life of the 3-year-old son of the Czar of Russia is insured for $2,500,000 and the risk is considered so great that an extra premium is charged; in fact, his is said to be the highest life insurance rate in the world. It costs something to be heir to a great throne and still more when that heirship is so precarious.

CURRENT COMMENT.

They are now criticising Governor Johnson because he did not tear his shirt for Mr. Bryan, but it seems that Governor Johnson went ahead and saved what he could.—Durham Herald.

—Mr. Taft's administration will either deceive the trusts or the people. We will wait patiently to see which. The trusts seem so well satisfied that it would be a rude awakening to them if they should wake up to find that they had bought the presidency and been denied immunity. But the trusts make few mistakes!—News and Observer.

—The information that the republican leaders of New York have settled upon the Hon. Elihu Root, now secretary of State, to succeed the Hon. Thomas C. Platt in the United States Senate after March 4, next, is one of promising signs of the times. The enlargement of the personnel of this august body is one of the needs of our national life.—Chattanooga Times.

—We prefer at this time not to commence the work of exposing these conditions, but wish to say that if it were generally known as to the corruptness and general cussedness of politics in Surry county it would compare favorably with the dark days of reconstruction in this State. Even Pennsylvania politics, in its worst form, would be put to shame when compared with the small and disgusting politics of Surry county.—Mount Airy Leader.

—Those who are appearing at the tariff hearings of the Ways and Means Committee at Washington in behalf of various "protected interests," instead of helping toward a "revision downward" of the present tariff, almost invariably put in pleas for more protection by means of higher duties. To their minds the purpose of a tariff is not to raise revenue for the Government by a tax upon consumption, which customs duties necessarily are so far as imported articles are concerned, but to increase the profits of their business or to enable them to carry on a business here which would otherwise be unprofitable by extending the tax to the consumption of domestic as well as imported articles. Every addition to the price of articles that enter into consumption resulting from duties on imports, is necessarily a tax upon consumers for the benefit of those who provide these articles. The high cost of living which is the consequence is construed as a high "standard of living" that justifies high wages for labor.—Journal of Commerce.

—The fact that the owners of the Red Star Line steamships Kroonland adn Finland have seen fit to transfer these ships from American registry to that of Belgium serves to draw attention anew to the steady decline in the tonnage of American shipping engaged in foreign trade. These two ships, which were built at Philadelphia not many years since, represent 25,000 goss tons, a large amount to be deducted from the already small aggregate of American tonnage. The reason assigned by the owners of the ships for this change of registry is reasonable and proper. Under the Belgian flag they will escape the legal and other restrictions, which make it so much more expensive to operate ships under the American flag. As American ships the two vessels had become unprofitable, while under a foreign flag, and relieved of the expensive restrictions of American registry, they will pay a profit. As the Red Star Line is mostly controlled by American capital, it was no mere lack of patriotism which dictated the change of registry. It was the inexorable logic of facts which compelled the adoption of a distasteful alternative or go out of business.—New Orleans Picayune.

—Congressman Charles H. Fowler, of the Fifth New Jersey district, having been elected for the eighth consecutive time, is emboldened to apply for the speakership and has given out a platform, "that the House of Representatives shall elect a board of managers consisting of seven members, who shall be charged with the direction of legislation now assumed by the speaker." Mr. Fowler commenced a fight on Speaker Cannon when his measure of currency reform, admittedly superior to the Aldrich measure, was side-track on the floor of the house, after a majority of the committee on banking and currency had agreed to favorably report it. A special committee was appointed, which took the place of the regularly organized committee and substituted the Aldrich patchwork for the Fowler measure. The Fowler following in the attempt to deprive Speaker Cannon of his pespotic rule is very strong, numerous influential Republicans being included. Perhaps what the anti-Cannon forces failed to do in the Illinois congressional district will be done by Congress, as the movement to depose Mr. Cannon has taken the form of a Republican revolt. But Republicans have a way of settling differences quietly and satisfying members who are inclined to "kick," and the movement may go the way of its predecessors.—Macon Telegram.

SPECIAL MISSION SERVICES.

To Begin by Archdeacon Webber at St. John's Friday.

The series of Mission Services to be conducted by Archdeacon Webber at St. John's Church, will begin next Friday, November 20th. The first service will be Friday at 8 P. M., and after that there will be four services daily, as follows: Holy Communion 7:30 A. M., Prayers and address 11 A. M. and 4 P. M., Mission services with sermon 8 P. M. On Sunday, the 22nd, there will be a special Men's Service in the afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Those who have read the Raleigh and Charlotte papers know what a deep impression Archdeacon Webber made during missions recently held there, and with what appreciation and pelasure the people attended his services. In reporting these services the Observer said: "His power as a preacher of the Word is wonderful, and his grasp upon the individual hearer is equally so. His sermons have the personal touch, which is the first mark of genius, sincerity, power and inspiration." It is a great privilege to have him here, and his coming is looked forward to with much pleasure.

ANNUAL NOVEMBER BARGAIN SALE.

Ot the C. W. Polvogt Company to be Held November 18th to 28th.

The ladies of our city will read with delight the full page advertisement in this issue of the C. W. Polvogt Company, who announce their annual November Bargain sale. The warm weather so far this season has caused many goods in their establishment to move slow. They have, however, cut the price on nearly every item in their store. Shoppers will reap the benefit by calling on them during this sale. Double trading stamps will be given free on all sales before noon every day after which time single stamps only will be given. The Carpet, Millinery and Suit Departments offer very attractive bargains during this sale.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

LEFT ON HER DOORSTEP FOR THIS MOTHER

Mrs. A. G. Tuson, of Livermore, Cal., writes: "I picked up from my doorstep one day a little book in which I soon became very much interested. My little girl of five years of age had been troubled for a long time with loss of appetite, extreme nervousness and undue fatigue. She was all rundown and in a very delicate condition.

"This little book was very comprehensively written, and told of the new method of extracting the medicinal elements of the cod's liver from the oil, eliminating the obnoxious oil which is so hard for children to take.

"'Just the thing,' said I, 'for my little daughter,' and I immediately went for a bottle of Vinol. It helped her wonderfully. She has gained rapidly in flesh and strength, and she does not take cold half so easily.

"I am extremely grateful for the good it has done her, and I hope other mothers who have weak, delicate or ailing children will be benefited by my experience and just give Vinol a trial."

A Toast:—The Old North State.

Here's to the land of the Long Leaf Pine,
The Summer Land, where the sun doth shine;
Where the weak grow strong, and the strong grow great—
Here's to "Down Home" the "Old North State."

Here's to the land of the cotton blooms white,
Where the scuppernong perfumes the breeze at night,
Where soft Southern moss and jessamine mate,
'Neath the murmuring pines of the "Old North State."

Here's to the land where the galax grows,
Where the rhododendron roseate glows;
Where soars Mount Mitchell summit great,
In the "Land of the Sky," in the "Old North State."

Here's to the land where maidens are fairest,
Where friends are the truest, and cold hearts are rarest;
The near land, the dear land, whatever our fate,
The blest land, the best land, the "Old North State."

The North Carolina Toast as given above, has been copyrighted by its author, and all rights are expressly reserved in its publication. It will be interesting to know that in a letter received from Mrs. Martin, giving permission for the publication of this toast, the last three verses of which were only recently composed, Mrs. Martin states that, when writing the first stanza of this toast, "the pines around the golf links of your golf club in Wilmington were vividly in my mind," and this fact gives this stanza, which is so widely known, a local interest which has not heretofore been attached to it, and lends an additional charm to this already beautifully expressed sentiment.

The following from the New York Times will be read with interest by friends in Wilmington: "Hot Springs, Va.,—Luncheons were given at Fassifern Farm on Sunday afternoon for two debutantes, namely, Miss Dorothy Jordan and Miss Elizabeth Latimer, Mr. and Mrs. Æben D. Jordan entertaining for their daughter, and Mrs. Sydney Wynne Ffoulkes having a large company for her sister, Miss Latimer."

The production of "Under the Greenwood Tree" by Miss Florence Davis, who is a general favorite among Southern playgoers, ably assisted by Elliott Dexter, as her leading man, was witnessed by a large and appreciative audience on Thursday evening last. In the role of Mary Hamilton, Miss Davis is charming and as a comedienne, she is bewitching, attractive and bright. The play was most ably presented and furnished an evening of the greatest pleasure to those in attendance.

One of the social events of the season in Norfolk was the marriage the past week of Miss Mildred Dryden Kensett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harrison Kensett, and Mr. Edward Murrell Daniel, son of United States Senator John W. Daniel, at the home of the bride's parents, on Botetourt street, the Rev. David W. Howard officiating. There were a large number of visitors among the number being Mr. J. Gilman Kensett, of Wilmington, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harper, of Lynchburg, who are now visiting in this city.

Th Lecture of Dr. Sears at the Academy of Music, on Wednesday evening last, under the auspices of St. James Brotherhood, the proceeds of which were for the benefit of the Children's Playground Movement was a decided social and artistic success, and it is to be regretted that a larger audience could not have heard this eloquent lecturer on "More Taffy and Less Epitaphy." Dr. Sears had his audience with him from the first, and it would be hard to arrange a pleasanter hour than that furnished by the "Taffy Man" on the occasion in question.

The opening dance of L'Ariosa German Club, on Thursday night which was also the first formal dance of the season, given complimentary to the King-Rountree wedding party, was a most delightful affair and largely attended by members and visitors. The spacious ball room of the Masonic Temple was attractively decorated for the occasion, and nothing was left undone to make the occasion a success. The out-of-town guests present were, Miss Alice Huske, of Washington, D. C., with Mr. J. R. McNeil; Miss Madge Johnston, of Rock Hill, S. C., Miss Bessie Shotter, of Savannah, Ga., Miss Dorothy King, of New York, with Mr. Harry Markoe, Jr., also of New York; Miss Isabel Shotter, of Savannah, with Mr. I. Westen Kendal, of New York; Miss Jean King, of New York, with Mr. Hugh Blythe, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Wynne Floulkes, of Philadelphia; Miss Emory, of Baltimore, Mr. J. C. Gittings, of Baltimore, Miss Margaret Harris, of New Jersey; Miss Prince, of New York.

Many Wilmington people are interested in the marriage this month of Miss Florence Jackson, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mr. Shepard Bryan, a son of Judge Henry Bryan, of this State. The following relative to the wedding plans is taken from yesterday's issue of The Atlanta Journal: "The wedding of Miss Florence Jackson and Mr. Shepard Bryan will be a beautiful home event, taking place on Thursday evening, January 14th, at the home of the bride's sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Aquilla J. Orme, on Peachtree street. Miss Kathleen Brown will be maid of honor, Miss Josie Stockdell will be first bridesmaid, and Miss Roline Clarke and Miss Louise Black will be bridesmaids. Mr. Frederick Bryan, of Roanoke, Va., a brother of the groom, will be best man. The flower girls will be Miss Cornelia Moore, Miss Evelyn Jackson, Miss Sarah Orme and Miss Callie Orme, and the ribbons bearers will be Mr. Wilmer Moore, Mr. Henry Jackson and Mr. Quill Orme, the small nieces and nephews of the bride-to-be. At the bride's table, after the ceremony, will be seated a number of close friends of the bride and groom, beside the attendants."

The marriage of Miss Isabel Rountree to Mr. VanRenselleer Choate King, on Thursday afternoon last, at five o'clock, was the occasion of a large out-pouring of Wilmington's most prominent social leaders, and the interior of historic St. James was thronged with guests, and the personal friends of the bride and groom. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and the soft glow from the candlebra from the altar had a softening effect that proved quite an added attraction. The wedding party consisted of Miss Cynthia Rountree, a sister of the bride; the Misses King, sisters of the groom; Miss Bessie Shotter, of Savannah; and Miss Lucy Bridgers, while Miss Isabel Shotter, of Savannah, acted as maid-of-honor. The groomsmen were Mr. Hugh Blythe, of Chicago, Harry Markoe, Jr., of New York; Mr. C. McD. Davis, Mr. Milton Calder, and Mr. Burke Bridgers, of Wilmington, while Mr. I. Western Kendall, of New York, acted as best man. The marriage service which was performed by Rt. Rev. Robert Strange, Bishop of East Carolina was

A Colytic Barber Shop

THE distinction of opening the first Colytic Barber Shop belongs to Mr. Emile Caye, of Baltimore, Maryland.

"Colytic" is from a Greek word meaning preventative, that is, having the power to prevent the spread of germ diseases.

Patrons of barber shops have noticed extraordinary changes in recent years, for in certain shops the attempt at modern cleanlinesh—or Asepsis, as it is called—almost equals that in the operating room of a hospital.

Not many years ago, any attempt on the part of a barber to discourage the spread of disease breeding germs would have been considered a huge joke, but there is no joke about it today. The discovery by Prof. Unna (ask your doctor about him) that dandruff is a contagious disease due to an invisible vegetable growth (a microbe) in the scalp, together with the fact that certain other diseases can be spread in barber shops, unless intelligent preventive measures are employed, has put a new phase upon barbering.

Incidentally too, it has enabled the more progressive and intelligent barbers to employ expensive scientific methods that add greatly to the safety and comfort of their patrons, while at the same time paying handsome returns upon their investments.

The word "Antiseptic" has been very generally adopted by barbers to describe shops in which the newer methods prevail, but as Antiseptic means against putrefaction, or having the power to destroy the bacteria upon which putrefaction depends, it will be seen that the word "Colytic" more correctly describes Mr. Caye's wonderful palace of cleanliness, that is claimed to be one of the sights of Greater Baltimore. Mr. Caye is a pioneer in scientific barbering, having been proprietor of the famous old Carrolton Hotel Barber Shop, that enjoyed international fame on account of its Aseptic methods.

Does the great Colytic Barber Shop find it necessary to use Newbro's Herpicide, the original remedy that kills the dandruff germ? Indeed it does. Each one of the twenty barbers in this big establishment has Newbro's Herpicide on his stand, because the patrons of high grade barber shops, all over our land, prefer Newbro's Herpicide and are willing to pay for it. Read the following short but interesting details of the Colytic Barber Shop:

Razors

Each barber-stand is equipped with an electric Sterilizer, wherein the Barber's razors are sterilized before use. This renders each razor absolutely free from micro-organism or spores, thereby making it impossible for the razor to spread disease.

Towels

All towels are white linen. After being laundered, they are packed in bundles of ten and put into colytic bags, where they remain protected until they are used. Barbers are not limited to the number of towels used on a customer, and fifteen thousand towels are constantly in use.

Brushes, Combs and Mugs

All shaving mugs, hair-brushes and combs are sterilized before and after beng used on each customer. The thorough sterilization of these implements means their perfect freedom from pathogenic germs.

Fabrics, Utensils, Etc.

All hair cutting gowns, clippers, etc., are kept in large glass fumigators, wherein a powerful disinfectant is vaporized, the fumes of which completely destroy disease germs of every character.

Remember that Newbro's Herpicide is the ORIGINAL remedy that kills the dandruff germ.

Before Herpicide was manufactured, not two people in a thousand, outside of medical men, knew anything about the dandruff germ, because its discovery was too recent.

The campaign for scalp cleanliness conducted by The Herpicide Company has been a potent factor in bringing about the improved conditions that are found in the more progressive barber shops today.

Save and beautify your hair with Newbro's Herpicide.

Send 10 cents in stamps to The Herpicide Company, Dept. 39, Detroit, Mich., for sample and booklet. Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00. At Drug Stores. When you call for Herpicide do not accept a substitute. Applications at Prominent Barber Shops.

MR. McRAE'S COLONIES

Lesson of Wilmington Banker's Immigration Plan by Mr. Vincent.

(Chattanooga Times)

Mr. R. W. Vincent, managing editor of The Charlotte Observer, has an article of great value and interest, especially to this section, in the November number of The World's Work on "Successful Immigrants in the South." It gives the details of the establishment in North Carolina of "five self-sustaining and flourishing colonies, with more than eight hundred agriculturists," organized and promoted through the energy and effort of Mr. Hugh McRae, of Wilmington. The chief feature of the article is that there are classes of immigrants coming into the United States who may quickly adapt themselves to Southern conditions, and who, because of their habits of industry and their experience in agriculture, become good citizens and successful producers, adding in both respects to the civic well-being and material wealth of the communities in which they live. These immigrants in the main take up lands the natives do not try to cultivate and by attention and careful treatment redeem them from waste.

This is the class of immigrants this district is in need of. Thousands of acres of fertile lands are lying idle and unproductive and may be had at comparatively small cost and we have no doubt would attract the same kind of people who are going into North Carolina if there were only some McRaes in this part of the country to make the effort to secure them. The cities and towns of East Tennessee are growing satisfactorily in a way, but the agricultural communities are not keeping pace. The opening up of the Tennessee river and the consequent reduction of rail freight rates to the water level—now only a question of a short time—will make Chattanooga one of the best markets in the country for agricultural products, and the fact duly advertised and brought to the attention of the thrifty people seeking new homes would be of great advantage.

most impressive. Following a very small reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Rountree, Mr. and Mrs. King left for an extended wedding tour North, upon the completion of which they will be at home at No. 506 Market street.

Miss Juliet Merriman has returned home after an extended visit to friends and relatives in New York and Pennsylvania.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Stanley have returned from their bridal tour North and will be at home to friends in this city. Dr. Stanley has resumed the practice of his profession in this city.

Mrs. Paul B. Manning and little son have returned from Western North Carolina where they have been spending the past Summer and have been pleasantly received by many Wilmington friends.

Miss Bessie Gore left yesterday morning for Norfolk to spend two or three weeks with her friend, Miss Virginia Randolph Tucker. Later she leaves for Baltimore to spend the holidays as the guest of Mrs. Eugene Newbold.

General and Mrs. Iredell and daughter, Miss Violet Iredell, who have been in Wilmington for the past few days on a visit to relatives, as the guests of Mr. Thos. D. Meares, on Market street, left on Saturday for the North, where they will visit Washington and other cities, returning to England via New York.

The many friends of Mrs. Mattie H. Longfellow are delighted that she has accepted the position as soprano in St. John's Episcopal Church choir. She was soprano for several years in the Presbyterian church quartette but will sing the remainder of the Winter in her own church. The choir is also fortunate in securing Mrs. O'Keef as organist.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Williamson entertained very delightfully on Thursday evening, when they were at home to a few of their friends in a very informal way, Thursday being the seventh anniversary of their marriage. Dainty refreshments were served to the guests, and the occasion was decidedly an enjoyable one for those who were present. Mr. and Mrs. Williamson's invited guests, some of whom were unable to attend, were, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Marsden Bellamy, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Metts, Mr. Hargrove Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. Russell Bellamy, Miss Lilla Bellamy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Bellamy, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Roach, and Miss Lucile Murchison.

It will be of interest to Wilmington theatre-goers, and the public generally, to know that James K. Hackett, than whom there is no more prominent character on the American stage today, will appear at the Academy of Music on the evening of December 15th, in "The Prisoner of Zenda." Anthony Hope's novel is too well known to necessitate discussion, and the fact that the dramatization of this well known book is said to be the equal in all respects to the original story is sufficient assurance that, with the able interpretation of Hackett and the elaborate costuming, an evening of unusual pleasure will be afforded the audience. Wilmington is indeed fortunate in obtaining the engagement, and the management of the local theatre here should be congratulated on their success in this respect.

Faison, N. C., Nov. 14.—A Bridge Party given by Mrs. C. C. Phillips, of New York, in honor of her sister, Mrs. Marshall Williams, of Faison, N. C., was one of the events of the past week. The prizes were won by Mrs. Temple Gwathmey, Mrs. James Riordan, and Miss Mary McKee, granddaughter of ex-President Harrison. The guests were ushered into the dining room, which was most attractive in its decorations of white and green, and the table fascinating dainties. Mrs. Muser, of Chicago, dispensed tea, and Mrs. Williams, presided over the punch bowl. The following ladies were present: Mrs. A. B. Gwathmey, Mrs. Ralph Holland, Mrs. Russell Harrison, Mrs. R. A. Springs, Mrs. Herbert Borden, Mrs. L. B. Kendall, Mrs. R. J. Reese, Mrs. W. B. Pritchard.

The following handsomely engraved invitations have been received by friends in the city:

Mr. and Mrs. George Douglas Elliot request the pleasure of your company at the marriage of their daughter Mamie to Mr. Henry Mauger London, on the evening of Wednesday, the twenty-fifth of November at seven o'clock At Home Linden, North Carolina.

Mr. London is a resident of Pittsboro, N. C., and is a member of one of the most aristocratic families in the State, having many relatives in this city and numerous friends and acquaintances throughout the State, especially among the University alumni, while the bride-to-be is one of the most attractive young women of Linden and widely known in social circles of North Carolina.

A most beautiful and elaborate choral service took place at St. James Church on Friday night, in the nature of a cantata, "The Holy City," by Alfred R. Gaul. The choir was composed of Mrs. C. F. MacRae, Mrs. Holden, Miss McIntosh, Miss Nash, Miss Julia Post, Mrs. Fenly, Miss Chasten, Miss Anderson, Mrs. Wormsley, Miss Wormsley, Master Green Fenly, Jr., and Messrs. J. B. Fenly, Green Fenly, H. W. Wormsley, Wilbur Dosher, A. L. Dosher, F. Wilson, H. R. Bates, Alex Holden, R. G. Rankin, Jr. Ably accompanied and directed by Professor Geo. L. Johnson, whose fame as an organist is already well-known and appreciated here, the rendition of this beautiful cantata was inspiring. A large number of persons were in the congregation and the service was a musical treat of the highest order. Many weeks of practice have been spent on this production, and the fact was evidenced in the perfection with which the cantata was rendered. It is hoped that the cantata may be repeated for the benefit of those who were not so fortunate as to attend, or that another similar service may be held at St. James at an early date.

The Savannah News of Thursday morning has the following that will be of interest to many friends in Wilmington: "The marriage of Miss Marie Louise Strobhar and Mr. Neill Stedman McLaurin took place yesterday at 1 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Capt. and Mrs. H. A. Strobhar, on East Thirty-eighth street. Although a quiet one, the wedding was exceedingly pretty and was witnessed by a small circle of intimate friends and members of the family. The drawing room was decorated with white chrysanthemums and ferns and the second room with pink chrysanthemums. Miss Olive Gould at the piano played the wedding march as the bride entered. She wore her traveling gown, a tailor suit of blue cloth, finished with bands of black satin, and a lingerie blouse showing some dainty handwork. Her hat matched her gown in color and trimmed with shaded blue wings. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The marriage service was performed by the Rev. Roger L. Clark of the Christian Church. At its conclusion Mr. and Mrs. McLaurin received the congratulations of the guests before leaving on their wedding trip. They will visit Mr. McLaurin's relatives in Wilmington and on their return will reside at 323 East Thirty-eighth street, Mr. McLaurin, who is from Wilmington, has lived in Savannah about a year. He is connected with the freight department of the Atlantic Coast Line. From his business associates a handsome china cabinet was received. Among the other wedding gifts was a case of flat silver from the bride's family."

How to Get Strong.

P. J. Daly, of 1247 W. Congress St., Chicago, tells of a way to become strong; He says: "My mother, who is old and was very feeble, is deriving so much benefit from Electric Bitters, that I feel it's my duty to tell those who need a tonic and strengthening medicine about it. In my mother's case a marked gain in flesh has resulted, insomnia has been overcome, and she is steadily growing stronger." Electric Bitters quickly remedy stomach, liver and kidney complains. Sold under guarantee at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. 50c.

NEWS OF LUMBERTON

Two Weeks Term of Court in Progress—News and Personal Notes From Robeson County Seat. Theatrical Attractions.

(Special Star Corespondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Nov. 14.—The two weeks' term of criminal court which convened Monday is making fairly good time. Solictor Sinclair was detained at home Monday and Tuesday on account of sickness, but arrived in time to be in court Wednesday. During his absence the State was ably represented by Mr. E. J. Britt. None of the murder cases have been reached yet, but there are four cases set for next week, bginning Monday. Many people are of the opinion that the attendance during this week has been the largest ever seen at a court here. Everybody seems delighted with Judge Biggs.

An effort is being made to secure passengers enough from here for Richmond on Thanksgiving day to have a special Pullman car to carry them there and back.

Mrs. Mollie Meldrim, of Tennille, Ga., arrived here Tuesday night from Asheville where she spent the Summer, and will spend some time here visiting the family of Mr. G. E. Rancke and other relatives.

Make Ross, colored, was placed in jail here Tuesday, charged with an assault. Make is a brother of Reuben Ross, who was hanged here eight or ten years ago for the same kind of a crime and was the one whom Gov. Russell thought it necessary to send a military company here from Raleigh to protect, and which caused much indignation at the time.

A vaudeville and moving picture show is billed to appear here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week.

"Union Depot for a Day" was presented to a large audience at the opera house Tuesday night under the direction of Miss Myrtle M. Critchfield, and was declared by all to have been a grand success in every respect. The play was given under the auspices of the Foresters, Mr. Lee Caldwell managing the affair for the order. Both Miss Critchfield and Mr. Caldwell deserve much credit for the great success of the undertaking. Lumberton young people who took part in the play certainly have cause to feel proud of themselves. Most excellent music was furnished by the Lumberton orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Boyd Edwards have purchased from Mr. A. W. McLean a six-room residence on Second street, which will be repainted and otherwise improved. As soon as the improvements are made they will make that their home.

Mr. C. B. Redmond, proprietor of the Parlor Grocery, has just received a shipment of 25 barrels of Malaga grapes for the approaching holiday trade. Only a few years ago no one in this section would have dared making such a purchase.

The sweet potato crop in this section is said to be an unusually large one and the prices are lower than for several years, retailing now at 40c per bushel.

A meeting of citizens is called to be held at Pembroke to consider the matter of a new county, which, if it should be formed, would be composed of the upper end of Robeson.

Mr. J. N. Catoe, one of the Seaboard operators at this place, has resigned his position to accept the agency at Kollock, S. C. Mr. Catoe expects to leave here about December 1st.

Lumberton Odd Fellows gave a smoker at their lodge room last night which was well attended and much enjoyed.

Mr. W. A. (Sandy) McNeill, salesman for Caldwell & Carlyle, and Miss Henie tSephens, of lower Robeson, were married last week at the residence of the bride's parents, Rev. M. A. Stephens, officiating.

The Robeson Baptist Association will meet at Lumber Bridge next Tuesday, the 17th. It is expected that many visitors will attend from this section.

The Joshua Simpkins Company, which was advertised to appear here Wednesday night missed train connections and had to cancel the engagement here. A vaudeville and moving picture show will occupy the opera house three nights next week—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The Pilkets are billed for Lumberton, 24th, 25th and 26th.

Judge Biggs, who is holding court here this week, is accompanied by Mrs. Biggs, and they are guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McLean.

Farmers report almost the entire cotton crop in this section as being gathered. The weather has been unusually favorable through the picking season and labor has been plentiful.

A meeting of much importance will be held at the Baptist church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock and all members are earnestly requested to be present.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. R. T. Musselwhite left his bicycle on the sidewalk in front of the Robesonian office while he stepped off a short time, and on his return found that some one had carried it off. So far the wheel has not been recovered.

John Freeman, about 21 years old, was terribly injured at the Dresden Cotton Mills last night. While shifting a belt his foot was caught and before he could be released his foot was almost pulled from his leg only the heel string holding, but the attending physician thinks amputation will not be necessary, though the young man will be confined to his bed for several months.

A civil service examination was held here today for rural carriers, twelve applicants being examined.

WRIGHTSVILLE M. E. CHURCH.

Through the courtesy of the architect, Mr. H. E. Bonitz, the Star is able to reproduce above an excellent likeness of the new Wrightsville Methodist Episcopal church as it will appear when completed very soon on the site generously donated for this purpose by Mrs. Fannie G. Pritchard, on Wrightsville Sound.

The church is to be of mission design with a seating capacity of 250 in the main auditorium with a Sunday School room annex. The building fronts north and will be located on the south side of the suburban line leading to the beach, just opposite Villa View. It will have two entrances with tower on the northeast corner of the edifice as shown in the cut. It will be finished with cement and pebble dash on the exterior, all windows in opalescent glass, while the interior is to be finished with hard wall plaster and tinted walls, pews and other furnishings of hardwoods. The building will be heated with warm air furnaces and lighted by electricity. The Sunday School room will be connected with the main auditorium by Wilson roller partitions, making a much larger seating capacity available when necessary.

The estimated cost of the new house of worship is $4,000 and the contract for its erection will be let this week and the work pushed with all possible dispatch so that the building may be ready for occupancy by the first of March.

While all the ladies of Wrightsville Sound have been most zealous in their efforts for the church fund, the new building is largely possible through the instrumentality of Mrs. Pembroke Jones, who has not only contributed a large sum but has purchased and deeded to the trustees of the congregation a splendid site for a cemetery. The congregation feels especially grateful to Mrs. Jones for what she has made possible by her great generosity. The Building Committee of the church is composed of Mr. G. W. Westbrook, Mr. N. J. Northam, Mr. T. J. Conway, Mr. A. P. Southerland, Rev. J. T. Sanford, the pastor, and Rev. W. L. Cuninggim, presiding elder of the Wilmington district. They are to be congratulated upon the successful culmination of their labors for many months.

Architect H. E. Bonitz with the plans just submitted has completed the designs and specifications for 12 new houses of worship this year, having only this week forwarded the plans for a handsome new $15,000 Baptist church at Littleton, N. C. Judging by this record the present is an era of church building and one of great promise for the future.

—Miss Charlotte Fennell leaves Monday for Greensboro where she will be the guest of friends for some days.

—Mrs. Harry Teed, wife of Adjutant Teed, of the Salvation Army, is visiting for a few days at Greenville, S. C.

—Representatives C. Ed Taylor, of Brunswick, and E. M. Koonce, of Onslow, were here yesterday, guests at The Orton.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Powell, of Oxford; P. R. Rhodes, of Charlotte, and Theo. M. Webb, of Raleigh, were among the arrivals at The Orton yesterday.

—Elder J. T. Johnson, pastor of the Advent Christian Church, will close his year's work a week from Sunday night, the 22nd. He goes to Gainesville, Fla., where Mrs. Johnson and the smaller children have already gone.

—Captain T. D. Meares, clerk of the Board of Audit and Finance, and Alderman W. A. French, Jr., will leave this afternoon for Charlotte to attend the municipal convention there this week. Mayor Springer, City Attorney Marsden Bellamy, Jr., and other members of the Board of Aldermen expect to leave tomorrow afternoon.

WEATHER ALTOGETHER BAD.

Yesterday One of Most Disagreeable of Disagreeable—Snow.

Following an extremely cold morning for which everybody predicted a heavy frost, daybreak yesterday opened up with a rapidly rising temperature and before sunset Wilmington had experienced a very heavy rainstorm and a return to lower temperatures with every indication that the mercury will continue to fall today. North of Wilmington snow was reported last night by Associated Press from Roanoke, Va., 10 to 12 inches; Lexington, Va., 10 inches; Norfolk, 9 inches and other places even further south with nearly as much.

The temperature here at 8 o'clock yesterday morning was 51 degrees and the mean for the 24 hours up to last night was as high as 53, but at 8 P. M., the mercury had fallen as low as 44 degrees. The rainfall for the day was 1.95 inches, the precipitation having been at times almost torrential. The ground was covered with snow north of Wilmington last night and the weather was reported very cold.

They Take the Kinks Out.

"I have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for many years, with increasing satisfaction. They take the kinks out of stomach, liver and bowels, without [illegible] or friction," says N. H. Brown, of Pittsfield, Vt. Guaranteed satisfactory at [illegible]'s Drug Store. 25c

The Theatre

The Crystal Palace will follow its big triumphant bill, which closed last night, with another giant and expensive one this week. The new bill will be inaugurated at matinee tomorrow afternoon and will prove a delightful offering, as well as a novel surprise. The well known team of Adair Dale and DeOrmond, who are presenting with great success their one-act comedy, "At the Races," will be on the bill, which alone guarantees its splendid nature. But there will be other stars, as Raleigh and Raleigh, who are also well known and exceedingly clever sketch artists, have been engaged and will dish-up fun fast and furious. Another popular vaudevillian who will appear is Chas. Ewing, the favorite blackface comedian. Several other artists, each one of the clever calibre, will complete the bill, which will, no doubt, bring big business this week to the attractive and very popular Crystal Palace.

"A Daughter of Erin."

"A Daughter of Erin" will be the offering at the Bijou tomorrow afternoon and evening. As the title suggests, it is a pretty Irish story in which Kitty O'Connor, the daughter of an Irish peasant, is courted by many handsome lads of the village, especially Miles O'Mally who is shown with his girl gliding over the glassy surface of one of pretty lakes of Killarney. A young Irish gentleman comes in between the peasant lovers and around these characters is developed a sweet little romance that will be found quite appealing. Prices always the same. Five cents to any part of the house.

LOCAL DOTS.

—The usual meetings will be conducted by the Salvation Army today, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and at 8 o'clock in the evening.

—In the absence from the city of Rev. J. S. Crowley, the service this morning at Immanuel Presbyterian Church, will be conducted by Secretary Edwin Kettle, of the Y. M. C. A., and in the evening by Mr. W. M. Cumming, of the First Church.

A VALUABLE WORK

"Why Freight is Lost or Damaged" By Mr. A. C. Kenly, of A. C. L.

"Why Freight is Lost or Damaged," by Mr. A. C. Kenly, of the Atlantic Coast Line, is the subject of a very interesting and valuable pamphlet just issued under the auspices of the General Managers' Association of the Southeast. It is handsomely illustrated and the subjects "The Marking of Freight," "The Packing of Freight," "Unprotected Articles," "Articles in Sacks," "Articles Strapped, Crated or Boxed," are all treated with clearness and sound advice. It is a publication designed to bring about a greater cooperation between the shipper and carrier to the end that freights may be handled more safely and expeditiously Some of the illustration show how packages should be packed and marked while others give 'frightful" examples of how others are tendered and sometimes accepted by the transportation people. The book is full of general information and is being distributed free of charge to those interested by the traffic departments of a number of railway companies.

LETTUCE GOING FORWARD.

Half a Car Load Yesterday—Northern Market is Very Good.

Half a car of Fall lettuce, largely grown under canvas, was shipped from Wilmington by express yesterday by local growers and the movement is expected to reach car-load proportions this week. The shipments will get to market early Monday morning and growers are expecting good prices. A produce letter from Philadelphia yesterday says:

"Fancy lettuce is in demand and is ready sale. Fancy North Carolina $2.25 to $2.50. Choice $1.75 to $2.50. Fancy well-headed Virginia, $2 to $2.25; choice $1.50 to $1.75; fair to good, 75c to $1.25. The general market is in good shape and active. Fancy lettuce, beans and peas are wanted and will command full prices. We advise shipments."

Miss Julia F. Goelet Dead.

Notice has been received by relatives in this city of the death of Miss Julia F. Goelet, of Saluda, N. C., which occurred in New York City on Saturday, November 7th, where she was visiting her brother, Dr. Augustin H. Goelet, of that city. The sad news was received by many friends and relatives in Wilmington where Miss Goelet was at one time a resident. She was associated some years ago with "Sister Cecilia" in the mission work conducted by St. James Episcopal Church, at St. James Home, on Orange street. For many years past Miss Goelet has been the deaconess in charge of the mission work among the mountaineers at Saluda, N. C., where her life of sacrifice and humility, and of joyous living service endeared her to all who came within her influence.

Largest Cargo of Anthracite.

The largest cargo of anthracite coal that ever came into the port of Wilmington under sail arrived yesterday by the four-masted schooner "Edith H. Symington," Captain Stiles, from Philadelphia. The cargo consists of 1,402 tons of stove coal for the Springer Coal Co. The firm received a large cargo last year by the barge Pocomoke, having over 1,500 tons towed from New York by a tug, but the schooner Symington breaks the record in tonnage by sailing vessel.

DIED.

GOELET—Died in New York City, on November 7th 1908, JULIA FRANCIS GOELET, daughter of the late Dr. Goelet, of Wayne county, N. C., and his wife Eliza Hill Lane, of Wilmington, N. C.

a splendid demonstration of all forms of attack, the Crimson won 6 to 0. Dartmouth fought fiercely and during the first half the rival elevens appeared evenly matched but in the second half the superior weight of the Crimson team enabled it to piece the Hanoverians' line for substantial gains.

The Carolina Game.

Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 14.—In a driving rain storm and on a field of mud, North Carolina defeated South Carolina at Chapel Hill this afternoon by the score of 22 to 0. The bad condition of the gridiron made the new style of play impossible and North Carolina relied on old fashioned line plunging. The advantage of heavier weight carried the day. Both elevens played hard ball.

At Lexington, Va.—A. & M.—No game on account of snow.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14.—Sewanee defeated the Georgia Techs. in a hard fought game here today by the score of 6 to 0. Neither side were able to to score in the first half, but in the second half as the result of a forward pass, the Tigers shot Williams across for a touchdown, with Evans kicking goal.

Other Results.

Blacksburg, Va., Nov. 14.— George Washington, 6; Virginia Techs, 0. Two 15-minute halves were played, the latter in partial darkness on a field just cleaned of ten inches of snow.

Lexington, Va., Nov. 14.—No game between V. P. I. and North Carolina A. & M. on account snow.

MEET MONDAY AFTERNOON.

Mr. H. E. Baxter, of Natchez, Miss., to Speak Here Tomorrow.

A telegram yesterday to Mr. L. B. Rogers stated that Mr. H. E. Baxter, of Natchez, Miss., would arrive in the city tomorrow and tomorrow afternoon he will address a meeting of the wholesale merchants of Wilmington at the Chamber of Commerce at 4 o'clock on the subject of a credit bureau. It will be recalled that a preliminary meeting to the formation of such a bureau was held during the past week at which the jobbers joined in an invitation to Mr. Baxter to come to Wilmington. It is hoped that a large gathering of the business men will be present tomorrow afternoon to hear the speaker, who has had wide experience in the line of which he will speak. The advantages of suuch a bureau have previously been outlined in these columns. Wholesalers in every line in the city may hear something to their advantage by attending the meeting tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

FOR THANKSGIVING GAME.

Coast Line Will Operate Special Pullmans to Richmond.

The Atlantic Coast Line is preparing to give every accommodation to those who desire to attend the big football game in Richmond on Thanksgiving day between Carolina and Virginia. Through Pullman cars will be operated from Wilmington to Richmond and the railroad fare for the round trip will be $8.05.

It will be necessary for those who contemplate taking advantage of the trip and excellent service to telephone No. 160 and berths will be reserved.

Primary Teachers' Association.

Quite a large delegation of teachers from the Wilmington Public Schools attended the annual convention of the State Primary Teachers' Association during the past week at Wilson, N. C., which was a success in every particular, more than a hundred delegates having been in attendance. Among those who attended from Wilmington were Miss M. E. Cook, the principal, and Miss Belle Anderson, of Union School; Misses Florrie King, Kate Johnson, Kate Yarborough and Augusta Wiggins, of Hemenway. They returned to the city last evening and speak most enthusiastically of the splendid entertainment they received by the people of Wilson. Most of the Wilmington delegates were guests for their sojourn in Wilson at the home of Associate Justice Connor, of the North Carolina Supreme Court.

Revival Will Continue.

The series of revival meetings conducted the past week at Southside Baptist church, Fifth and Wooster streets, by the pastor, Rev. G. A. Martin, and Rev. Fred D. Hale, D. D. pastor of the First Bautist church attracted large congregations and will continue this week. Dr. Hale preached last evening and this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock will preach a special sermon. His earnest and forceful sermons have achieved much good during these meetings and baptism will be administered to quite a number at the morning service today.

CUBA HAS AN ELECTION

Returns Indicate That General Gomez and Alfredo Zayas Are The Choice of the People—Fight Over Result.

(By Cable to the Morning Star.)

Havana, Nov. 14.—At the close of election which was conducted with great enthusiasm and complete absence of disorder it appears practically certain tonight that General Jose Miguel Gomez and Alfredo Zayas, have been chosen President and Vice President respectively of the Cuban Republic with strong Liberal majorities in the Senate and House.

Throughout the island, according to the reports, an extraordinarily heavy vote was cast, vastly in excess of that cast in the August election where 182,000 failed to vote in a total registration of 450,000.

This was especially so in Havana City where the vote probably will reach 66 per cent. of the registration against 49 per cent. in August. The heavy vote was due, not only to the prevalence of fine weather, but the strenuous efforts made to bring out the silent vote.

The slow incoming of the returns is attributed partly to the vote and party to scratched ballots on representatives.

Incomplete official returns from the precinct of Havana indicated that the city was overwhelmingly Liberal. Few returns have been received from the provinces but estimates give the island to General Gomez by from 25,000 to 30,000.

The Conservative leaders generally admit the defeat of their party. Tonight the streets were thronged with rejoicing Liberal crowds.

One party composed mostly of negroes ,while passing the cafe of the Hotel Inglaterra, which is a traditional Conservative resort, clashed with a group of Conservatives on the sidewalks. Knives and pistols were drawn and several shots were fired, some of them breaking the windows of the cafe and causing a panic among those seated within.

Lieutenant McReynolds of the marine corps ran out of the cafe and interposed himself between the combatants. He succeeded in inducing them to stop fighting. The shooting, however, attracted a great crowd and the situation eventually became threatening. Major Foltz, supervisor of the police, summoned the reserves and cleared the square. Two men are reported injured, but no arrests were made.

TRADING STAMP TAX.

Merchants Issuing Them on Their Own Account Not Liable.

Sheriff S. P. Cowan has received through the State Treasurer, by whom he was requested to investigate the matter in Wilmington, an opinion from the Attorney General in regard to trading stamps liable for taxation. Upon the facts as stated, the Attorney General holds that these merchants who do not buy these stamps from a person engaged in the business of selling stamps by giving articles of furniture, etc., in exchange therefor, are not liable to the tax. It seems that certain merchants in Wilmington issue their own stamps or cash coupons themselves for a cash purchase and when these to a certain amount have accumulated, they themselves redeem them by giving some article out of their own stocks. Upon these facts, the Attorney General says that he is decidedly of the opinion that they should not be required to pay the license under Section 76 of the Revenue and Machinery Act. The license of $200 is placed upon "any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of selling or delivering trading stamps or checks to persons engaged in trade or business." The tax is clearly confined to those engaged in selling trading stamps to merchants. Under the section there is no license tax levied upon the merchants who issue the stamps themselves and redeem them themselves.

PYTHIANS MONDAY NIGHT.

Hon. E. D. Smith, of South Carolina, to Address K. of P.

An event of much interest to the Pythians of the city and the district will be the celebration of the 38th anniversary of Stonewall Lodge No. 1, K. of P., tomorrow evening in Castle Hall. All Knights in the city have been especially invited and the lodges in the district have also been asked to be represented. There will be a delegation from Cronly and perhaps other out-of-town lodges.

As stated previously the address of the evening will be by Hon. E. D. Smith, of Florence, Senator-elect from South Carolina, who will arrive tomorrow afternoon on the train from the south. The committee of arrangements and other prominent Pythians will enjoy an oyster roast in the afternoon with the distinguished visitor at Wrightsville Sound. The meeting Monday night will be called to order promptly at 8 o'clock. The committee is composed of Messrs. J. D. Kelley, chairman, W. H. Yopp, W. C. Smith, Jos. W. Little and B. B. Sugg. It is hoped to have a very large gathering of Pythians. Refreshments will be served.

Interfered With Officer.

Officer Leon George yesterday afternoon on Market, near Front street, following a fight between E. Boney and Joe McNeal, both colored, arrested James Wilson, charged with interfering with the arrest. All three are colored and Officer M. P. Newton assisted in placing the first two under arrest. They were placed in the guard house to await trial in the police court tomorrow.

A Sure-enough Knocker.

J. C. Goodwin, of Reidsville, N. C., says: "Bucklen's Arnica Salve is a sure-enough knocker for ulcers. A bad one came on my leg last summer, but that wonderful salve knocked it out in a few rounds. Not even a scar remained." Guaranteed for piles, sores, burns, etc. 25c at R. R. Bellamy's drug store.

AN ELECTION INCIDENT.

Warrants Issued For Beaverdam Citizens Charging Them With Fraud.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Fayetteville, N. C., Nov. 14.—Warrants were issued today for the arrest of L. W. Beard and M. B. Hall, of Beaverdam township, this county, on the charge of conspiracy in fraudulently obtaining a county tax receipt during the recent campaign.

Beard signed an affidavit, which was circulated the day before the election by the supporters of the "Citizens' Ticket" charging Sheriff Watson, the Democratic candidate for re-election, with issuing to him a tax receipt, dated back in order that he might be able to vote on Beard's word that he had lost his receipt. Sheriff Watson, in accord denounces as false this charge, declaring that Beard represented that his receipt had been lost, whereupon a duplicate was given him, though it afterwards was discovered that Beard had not paid his tax at all. Warrants will later be issued against Beard on charges of slander and illegal voting.

NEW COURT OF FORESTERS.

Will be Installed at Laurinburg by Wilmington Team.

The installation of a new court of the Independent Order of Foresters at Laurinburg on Thursday night, November 19th, will be under the direction of the Wilmington, Southport and Lumberton courts, which will compose the initiation team, and exercises arranged for this occasion will be participated in by a large attendance from each court mentioned. Elaborate preparations will be made to entertain the visiting Foresters.

The new court will begin with a large number of charter members. It is expected that quite a number from Wilmington will go outside of the team and these are requested to communicate with Mr. E. C. Woodbury on or before Tuesday.

MARINE NEWS.

Several Clearances and Arrivals in Port Yesterday.

During the past two days three British steamers have arrived in port for cotton for foreign markets from Alexander Sprunt & Son. Two arrivals yesterday were the British steamers Benedick, Captain Roberts, from New York, and the Hillbrook, Captain Nopley, from Santos, Brazil.

The German steamer Else Menzell, Captain Audr, cleared yesterday, light, for Jacksonville, Fla. She discharged part cargo of fertilizers to the Wilmington Warehouse and Compress Company. The vessel was consigned to Heide & Co.

Services at Y. M. C. A.

The regular Sunday afternoon men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. will be addressed by Rev. T. A. Smoot, pastor of Grace Methodist Church at 5 P. M. today. His address will be especially to young men and his subject will be "God's Call to Men." Musical selections will be rendered by the Grace Church choir and a cordial invitation is extended all men in the city to be present.

THE CHINESE EMPEROR DEAD

Authentic Report of His Death—The Dowager Empress Dying.

(By Cable to the Morning Star.)

Peking, China, Nov. 14., 8 P. M.—The Emperor of China died shortly after 5 o'clock this evening. As early as 3 o'clock this afternoon it was reported that the Emperor was low; that his death was regarded as imminent. The foreign board of the government has confirmed the report circulated yesterday that the Dowager Empress is also mortally ill.

The foregoing dispatch from Peking sets at rest the conflicting rumors of the past two days that have originated in Peking and published around the world. The Emperor of China is dead. The report from London of his improvement probably referred to a temporary condition only. This Peking message is the first unqualified statement to come from the Chinese capital and it specifically gives the time of the passing of his Majesty.

The regent is Prince Chun, the Emperor's brother and if he is accepted by the Government before the Dowager Empress dies the likelihood of any revolutionary outbreak in China will be materially reduced.

Pekin, Nov. 14.—The Emperor had been ill for a long time and during recent audiences with foreign representatives he was too weak either to sit upon the throne or even in an erect position. It was evident for a long time that he would be unable to withstand a crisis which sooner or later must develop in the disease from which he was suffering. The recent climatic extremes caused the development of fatal complications that resulted in his death.

At the moment of the death of the Emperor the Dowager Empress' own death chamber chair was waiting in the court yard. She, too, had been in a serious condition and word that was brought to her earlier in the day that the Emperor was dying caused her to collapse. This has prevented her from assuming the relationship of grandmother to the successor to the throne which according to the Chinese system, would enormously augment her authority. There is little indication of emotion among the people over the events which have been transpiring.

LYNCHING IN MISSISSIPPI.

Negro Who Killed Planter Victim of Mob Vengeance.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Coldwater, Miss., Nov. 14.—Nick Veasey, a negro charged with having had a part in the killing of Boss Veasey, a planter of Arkabutla, was taken from officers late today and hanged by a mob of about a hundred men.

Those who participated in the lynching were friends of the man killed, who had assembled at Coldwater to attend the funeral. When it was learned that a sheriff's posse had succeeded in capturing one of the negroes wanted the mob was quickly formed and proceeding to Arkabutla, overpowered the officers. The negro was then secured and hanged near the scene of the killing of Veasey.

FAME SPREAD BY GRATITUDE

An Endless Chain of Praise is Formed by Grateful Friends.

ITS POPULARITY SPREADS

Local People Are Not Lacking in Appreciation and When Relief is Afforded Them They Show Their Gratitude.

If there is anyone who doubts the popularity of Dillingham's Plant Juice remedies in Wilmington let him stand in one of the local drug stores and he will soon be convinced that Plant Juice has won the confidence of the public. It is made apparent by the demand for the remedies as well as the praise from those who have used it and received relief from some disease or affliction.

Plant Juice does its work effectively; the person helped is naturally grateful and tells his friends what it has accomplished in his case, and in this way the fame of the wonderful remedy spreads. There have been hundreds of such cases in Wilmington and they continue to develop every day. John T. Davis, living on Eighth street, in this city, does not hesitate in saying that Plant Juice restored him to health and describes his case in the following words:

"I have been a sufferer for a long time with a severe case of stomach trouble which defied all efforts of physicians to cure. It first made its appearance about two years ago and in the last six months my condition became so bad that I was forced to give up my work. My appetite was very poor and what food I did eat was not digested and caused me great suffering. There was a bloated feeling in the stomach, severe pains and a pressure around the heart that caused me to think at one time that I had heart disease. I had a foul taste in my mouth, could not sleep and became very nervous.

"A neighbor who had found relief in Dillingham's Plant Juice advised me to try this remedy, and when he told me that my money would be refunded if it failed to cure me I decided to give it a trial. After taking the first bottle there was a noticeable improvement in my condition. I have continued the medicine for three weeks and now all trace of my former trouble has left me. I believe that Dillingham's Plant Juice is the greatest medicine made and know that it will cure diseases of the stomach."

This is the kind of proof that has resulted in the popularity of Plant Juice in Wilmington. There are other people who will learn of the benefit this man has received by using it and will also be thankful for having given it a trial.

ROCKEFELLER ON THE STAND.

To Testify in the Suit to Dissolve the Standard Oil Company.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 14.—John D. Rockefeller is expected to go on the witness stand when the hearing in the Government's suit to dissolve the Standard Oil Company is resumed next week and to tell the story of that gigantic corporation. It is said that Rockefeller has for some time been desirous of clearing up certain matters concerning the company.

At the office of the company it was stated that the Standard Company will subpoena Mr. Rockefeller, John D. Archbold, the vice president of the Standard Oil Company, and J. A. Moffatt, a director of the Standard Oil Company, as witnesses for the company in the hearing now proceeding.

COLLISION ON THE COAST LINE.

Train Runs Over Meeting Point—Two Mail Clerks Killed.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 14.—Passenger trains No. 39 and No. 10 of the Atlantic Coast Line came together in a head-on collision near Camden, a small station about 10 miles from this city today, killing James A. King, of Sanford, Fla., and Alex A. Bell, of Palatka both negro mail clerks and slightly injuring several others. A relief train was sent out from here and the dead and injured brought to Jacksonville. The trains it is said, had orders to meet at Camden, but No. 39 ran by with the fatal results.

The cableship under construction at Newport News has been named the Joseph Henry, after the first secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, who was a scientist of note. The vessel is to be completed early in 1909.

New Method of Reducing Fat.

A news item from Paris informs us that the American method of producing a slim, trim figure, is meeting with astonishing success. This system which has made such a wonderful impression over there, must be the Marmola Prescription Tablet method of reducing fat. It is safe to say that we have nothing better for this purpose in this country. Anything that will reduce the excess flesh a pound a day without injury to the stomach, the causing of wrinkles, the help of exercising or dieting, or interference with one's meals is a mighty important and useful addition to civilization's necessties. Just such a catalogue of good results, however, follow the use of these pleasant, harmless and economical little fat reducers. We say economical, because Marmola Prescription Tablets (made in accordance with the famous prescription) can be obtained of any druggist or the makers, the Marmola Co., Detroit, Mich., for seventy-five cents the large case, which is a decidedly economical price considering the number of tablets each case contains.

AMERICAN PRISON ASSOCIATION.

Convened in Richmond Yesterday With a Large Attendance.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Richmond, Va., Nov. 14.—Three hundred delegates representing every State in the Union, the Dominion of Canada, Cuba and in fact all North America, except Mexico, assembled tonight in the Jefferson Hotel to attend the opening Congress of the American Prison Association.

The meeting was an exchange of welcome for appreciation in which Mayor Richardson, for the city, and Governor Swanson for the State, vied in the choice of their language with Charles H. Henderson, of Chicago, and J. L. Milligan, of Pittsburg, president of the Association. M. E. Marcuse, of Virginia, presided and introduced the speakers.

Governor Swanson and Mayor Richardson, after turning over the keys of the city and State, won the hearts of the hearers by their firm expressions in support of prison reforms and juvenile courts.

Mr. Henderson urged the necessity of training the child. Dr. Milligan's address was confined almost entirely to a review of the changes in and advancement of the association's work since the last meeting. The meeting was followed by an informal reception in honor of the president.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—The Robesonian: A meeting of citizens of the county will be held at Pembroke on the 28rd inst. to consider the matter of a new county.

—Clarkton Express: There was an automobile in town Sunday and an elephant and circus Tuesday. One created about as much excitement as the other. Clarkton will be a city yet if she don't take a back-set.

—Laurinburg Exchange: In his Ford runabout Mr. A. Ford performed the remarkable feat of leaving town Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, driving to Marion, S. C., a distance of 52 miles, spending four hours in that beautiful little town, and taking supper here at 8 P. M.

—Concord Times: George Hall, who escaped from the penitentiary while serving a 15-year sentence for "leading" a mob of 5,000 "prominent" citizens in Salisbury when the negroes were lynched, is said to have spent several days with his family in Chestnut Hill, suburb of Salisbury, last week ,and then left for the South.

—Tarboro Southerner: The rumors that the Tarboro Cotton Factory troubles were about to be compromised were based on a proposition that Mr. Bridgers, the plaintiff, made the defendants, but as this has been rejected the end of the litigation is not in sight and the possibilities of a receivership looms up foreshadowingly.

—Mount Olive Tribune Messrs. Hollady & Crouse, of Greensboro, who have the contract for the construction of the Jacobi Memorial Building on the beautiful grounds of the Odd Fellows' Orphanage, on the eastern suburb of Goldsboro, are there getting material ready and on the site for an early breaking of ground, and soon building operations will be under full headway.

—Columbia, S. C., Nov. 13.—According to a statement issued by the Rev. J. L. Harley, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, an extensive and vigorous campaign is to be instituted right away with a view to influencing the coming Legislature to either pass a State-wide prohibition bill or provide for submitting the issue to the next primary. The first work will be before the several religious bodies which hold State conventions this fall.

—Winston Journal: A deal was closed yesterday between the Fries Manufacturing & Power Company, of this city, and the Southern Power Company, of Charlotte, by which the latter company contracts to extend its transmission lines to this city and place at the disposal of the local concern all the electric power that may be demanded for use in Winston-Salem for manufacturing, lighting and all other purposes. This means that there is to be no scarcity of electric power in this city and that Winston-Salem becomes more than ever a desirable center for small and large manufacturing plants that require power for operation.

—Chatham Record: The truth is that Lee county voted with Moore county for one Representative (as provided in the act of the Legislature creating Lee) and that Representative is Mr. D. A. McDonald, of Carthage. Although the constitution provides that 'each county shall have at least one Representative, yet the total number cannot exceed 120, and whenever a new county is created it votes with one of the old counties until the next apportionment, which can only be at the first session of the Legislature after a census has been taken. See sections 4 and 5 of article II. of the constitution. Ever since the constitution was amended by the convention of 1835 our General Assembly has been composed of 50 Senators and 120 Representatives.

—Wilson, Nov. 13.—Special Agent T. J. Watts, of the Southern Express Company, with headquarters at Savannah, Ga., was in the city this morning. While here he entered the jail and took "snap-shots" of Frank Smith, alias "Kid" McKoy, and Robert Smith, alias George Dixon. These negroes are in the Wilson jail for robbing an old man in the tobacco district about ten days ago. It will be remembered that some time last week in the city of Raleigh, two negroes shot at and robbed a transfer clerk of the Southern Express Company, and took away with them a pouch containing valuables. Special Agent Watts thinks possibly that he has the men so badly wanted by the company he represents. He says both of them have done time in the penitentiary; that he is almost sure that they are the parties who shot at a Raleigh policeman not long since. When asked if he did not believe that they belonged to an organized band, his reply was "Sure, and I think there are several women in the bunch." After these fellows were put in the Wilson jail it was not long before a big yellow woman came from Raleigh and requested to see Frank Smith. She said her name was Mary Smith and that Frank was her husband. After leaving the jail one of the female prisoners who was sweeping the court house yard espied her and asked what she was doing in Wilson. The Smith woman was seen to give the sweeper, who is from Raleigh, a piece of money and when asked why the money was given to her she said the money was given to her to keep mum. She said she believed the woman was wanted in Raleigh for running a blind tiger and that the men were her accomplices.

and often a very puzzling one—what to do with your money while you are looking for an investment. Rather risky keeping it at home—pity to have it earning nothing. An account with The People's Savings Bank, will solve the problem—ask them about it.

Known Drug Firms of Tennessee, Tells of The Phenomenal Demand For Andes' Great Medicines.

So many proprietary medicine firms all over the country are trying to tell the public of the enormous demand they are having for their remedies. The Payne Medicine Co., of Lexington, Ky., is publishing many open letters from prominent druggists who tell over their signatures, that Andes' Medicines are the largest sellers they ever handled. Now, there is a reason for this. It is positive that Andes' Medicines have real merit, and can be depended upon to cure all diseases of the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys. The following letter is from one of the best known drug firms in Tennessee:

W. D. KUHLMAN & CO.,
Wholesale and Retail Druggists,
301 and 600 Gay Street.
Dan. M. Chamblis, Mgr.
Knoxville, Tenn.
June 30, 1906.

Gentlemen:—It gives us great pleasure to recommend you and your line of remedies in any locality where you take up advertising as you did here. Our purchase of $3,000 worth of your medicines seemed quite a large quantity to us, and a very unusual occurrence, but we are more than pleased with the demand that had been created. We were able to dispose of this entire amount of goods in less than five weeks, and since that time have purchased about $1,200 worth more, and the demand seems to be increasing. We might state here that this is the largest sale of patent or proprietary medicine we have ever handled in so short a time, and has been eminently satisfactory.

You have kept every agreement and promise in full, and we will be glad to write any interested parties referred to us.

Trusting business is prosperous, we are, with best wishes. Very truuly,
W. D. KUHLMAN & CO.

While demonstrating and giving his famous lectures in Knoxville, Tenn., Mr. Andes and his assistants in six weeks sold $14,000 worth of The Andes' Great Medicines. This does not include the amount sold by Kuhlman's big drug store.

We sell these famous medicines and are having a big demand for them.

Belle of Virginia Rye deserves its name, and the name is certainly one of distinction and old-time aristocracy. It's a whiskey we are proud of on account of its purity and high quality and its hosts of admiring friends who will drink nothing else. Belle of Virginia is a blend—a scientific, uniform blend of pure, old goods. It's a whiskey with a flavor, and a fine, invigorating after-effect long to be remembered by those who drink it. Try it and you will make no mistake.

THE NATHANIEL JACOBI MEMORIAL BUILDING.

The Odd Fellows of North Carolina have let the contract to Holladay & Crouse, of Greensboro, for the erection of an additional building at their orphanage plant at Goldsboro. This building, as ordered by the Grand Lodge at its last session, is a memorial building to the memory of the late Nathaniel Jacobi, of Wilmington, the originator of the orphanage idea among the North Carolina Odd Fellows and a member of the Board of Trustees from its inception to the time of his death and will be known as the Nathaniel Jacobi Memorial Building.

The present plant consists of four buildings. The main building which cares for 100 children besides assembly room, music room, offices, etc.; the dining room building which has dining, room, store room, kitchen and dormitories above that accommodate thirty boys; an infirmary, a one-story brick building, containing four rooms with all necessary bath rooms and lavatories and the Home for Aged Odd Fellows, their wives and Sisters of the Rebekah Degree.

The plant at present is easily worth $60,000 and the Jacobi Memorial Building will cost $25,000 exclusive of furnishing, which will make the plant worth $85,000. The new building was made necessary because at present they are running at full capacity, having about 130 children and three aged people. When the new building is completed the capacity will be increased to 250. In the near future the Odd Fellows intend to install a laundry and central heating plant.

The children are well cared for in every way. They attend the graded schools of Goldsboro and average a little higher in their grades than the other children, more than one of them having graduated with first honors. They are taught piano and vocal music in addition to useful occupations. There is a strong moral sentiment prevailing, a large majority of the children being members of the different churches.

The Nathaniel Jacobi Memorial Building is a three-story and attic structure 71x100. The exterior shows a classic design with plain lines and no ornamentation, and will be of red pressed brick with trimmings of native granite. On the ground floor, which is two feet below grade with a ten-foot ceiling, at the north end are ample toilet and bath facilities, two large bath rooms and six shower compartments. In the south end will be a kitchen 10x30 feet, adjoining this a serving room 18x24 feet and a store room. These will all be fitted up with all the latest conveniences. The center space of the ground floor is 54x60 feet and will be used as a general dining hall. It has a comfortable table seating capacity of 325 and is well lighted by windows on two sides. All the ground floor is of terrazzo with convenient floor waste connecting with sewer to admit of flushing. This floor is easily accessible from the outside and from the dormitories above.

The main entrance opens into a vestibule on the first floor. From this vestibule a double flight of stairs lead to assembly hall above, and a door opens into a suite of parlors each 18x 22 feet and each having large open fireplaces with wide pressed brick mantels. At the other end of the first floor are music rooms, linen closet, and matron's room, a flight of stairs leading down to ground floor to bath rooms and dining hall and another flight leading up to assembly hall. The remainder of the first floor is divided into six large dormitories 18x23 feet and each designed to accommodate twelve girls. In each room there is a large general closet, ceiled with white cedar, and a double lavatory with hot and cold water. Each wardrobe closet has a ventilator in outside wall.

The second floor has one large dormitory room and an assembly hall with stage, dressing rooms, etc. The stage is 22x36 feet with dressing rooms at either end. The assembly hall is 54x58 feet with a 17-foot ceiling and will seat 580 people. The assembly hall is reached by stairways at either end of the building.

The attic floor is reached by one stairway from the south end of the building and has five rooms each 18x 55 feet, with an 8-foot ceiling. These rooms come between the trusses that support the roof and can be used for play rooms, trunk rooms, etc.

The plaster will be of wood fibre and hard universal finish. The building will be lighted throughout with electricity and heated with steam. The floors, except the ground floor, will be of North Carolina rift pine. Mr. Charles McMillen, of Wilmington, is the architect.

"THE MAN OF THE HOUR"

BY ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

COPYRIGHT, 1907 BY GEORGE H. BROADHURST

SYNOPSIS.

Chapter 1.—At the suburban home of Charles Wainwright, "high financier," he and his broker, Scott Gibbs, hatch up a scheme to corner Borough Street railway stock. They rely upon the support of Dick Horrigan, boss of the neighboring city who is coming to discuss matters. Alderman Phelan, the thorn in Horrigan's side, whom Wainwright is anxious to conciliate, is also coming. Among the members of Wainwright's household are his niece and nephew, Dallas and Perry Wainwright, and his secretary, Thompson, a secretive young man in whom the financier has implicit confidence. Judge Newman, a neighbor of Wainwright, whose continuance in office depends upon Horrigan's favor, requests Wainwright's intervention with the boss. Another visitor to the Wainwrights' is Alwyn Bennett, in love with Dallas, who is calling to ask her about her rumored engagement to Gibbs. Perry is in love with Cynthia Garrison, also a neighbor.. II.—Cynthia is the daughter of a bank president who nine years before the opening of the story was ruined by the dealings of the unnamed dishonest financier and shot himself. His son thereupon disappeared. Mrs. Bennett congratulates herself upon the immaculate record of her son's deceased father. Dallas refuses to marry Alwyn unless he does something worthy of his family and education. Phelan and Horrigan face each other. III—Phelan defies Horrigan. Judge Newman is turned down by the boss, but at Wainwright's request Horrigan agrees to reconsider his case. Horrigan becomes suspicious of Thompson, but Wainwright scoffs at the idea. Horrigan and Wainwright make a corrupt deal whereby the former, for a big consideration, is to procure from the board of aldermen a perpetual franchise for the Borough Street railway. The boss is worried by the reform movement threatening his power at the coming election and is casting about for a candidate for mayor with a clean record. He hits upon Bennett, who has some slight political experience. The latter accept, but warns Horrigan that, if elected, he will be absolutely honest and independent. IV.—Bennett is elected and appoints Cynthia his private secretary. Phelan tells him that the financier who caused the ruin of the Garrisons was Wainwright, who is also the power behind the crooked Borough franchise bill, with Horrigan and Gibbs. Dallas and Mrs. Bennett visit the city hall. V.—Gibbs tries to induce Bennett to sign the bill. The mayor's talk with Dallas is interrupted by Horrigan. VI—Bennett refuses to be bulldozed by Horrigan into signing the bill. The boss lacks one vote in the board of aldermen of the fourteen needed to pass the bill without the mayor's assent. Despite the fact that defeating the bill means impoverishing Dallas and Perry, whose fortune Wainwright has invested in Borough stock, Bennett vetoes the measure. VII—Bennett's plan to save Dallas and Penny is to have Perry sell Borough stock short. The mayor's opposition causes Horrigan and Wainwright to amend the bill, retaining, however, some of the most objectionable features. VIII—Alwyn's lovemaking to Dallas at the mayor's ball is interrupted by Horrigan. IX—Gibbs secretly plays false to Wainwright and Horrigan by buying Borough stock on his own account. Horrigan "fixes" Alderman Roberts, a wavering member of his "solid thirteen." X—Bennett warns Roberts against voting for the bill. In the presence of Cynthia, who is engaged to Perry, Phelan exposes Thompson as her brother, the long missing Harry Garrison, whereupon sister and brother embrace. Perry, entering suddenly, is astonished at the sight. XI—Cynthia explains to Perry. Dallas is convinced by Wainwright that Bennett by vetoing the bill is trying to wreck her fortune. Thereupon Dallas promises to marry Gibbs. XII—Horrigan declares that if Bennett persists in his opposition to the bill he will publish indisputable proofs of grafting by the mayor's father. Bennett's mother advises him to face the threatened disgrace and stick to his course. XIII—At the hearing on the bill Horrigan packs the aldermanic galleries with police to overawe the public. He bulldozes Roberts into consenting to vote for the measure, taking advantage of the alderman's financial necessities. XIV—Dallas, coming to attend the hearing, takes a place in an anteroom. Williams, Horrigan's lieutenant, brings Roberts to the private room of the boss. XV—Bennett wins Roberts from Horigan and in a contest of wills defeats the boss himself. Gibbs, who stands to lose all his money by the veto of the bill, is induced by Horrigan to offer to Bennett the breaking of his engagement to Dallas as the price of Bennett's ceasing to fight the bill. Perry tells Dallas of Bennett's secret measures to save her fortune. XVI—Dallas overhears Gibbs' offer to Bennett. The latter will have no dealings with the broker, and Dallas breaks the engagement herself. She then appeals to Phelan to bring Bennett to bar. XVII—Horrigan and Wainwright admit defeat, and the mayor threatens them with indictment for bribery. Garrison, confronting Wainwright, reveals to the latter his true identity. He has proofs of the financier's rascality, gained while serving him as secretary, and threatens to send Wainwright to prison and kill him after his release. XVIII—The last.

"Why do you bother with the little traitor, Wainwright?" scoffed Horrigan.

But the financier was standing motionless, leaning on the table, his fingers spasmodically gripping its edge till the knuckles grew white. Ridiculously like a cowed prisoner before the bar of justice, he faced his fiery eyed young judge.

"They sent for me," went on Thompson brokenly, jerkily, scarce intelligible as the suppressed hatred of a decade battled for expression. "They sent for me. My father had killed himself. My mother lay dead, struck down by grief. Our honored old name was defiled. My sister was a pauper. Who had done all this? You! Oh, they hushed it up, but I found it out! I found it out! And by my murdered father's body I knelt and swore I'd pay you for it. I'd pay you if it cost me my life. I would ruin you in name and fortune, as you ruined my father, and then I'd kill you, as you killed him! I'd"—

"And then I'd kill you, as you killed my father."

With an effort that left him haggard and trembling, Thompson forced himself to calmer speech and continued:

"I answered your advertisement for a secretary. I had no experience, yet out of ninety applicants you chose me. That was fate. I knew then that one day I should have you at my feet, as now I have. Fate fought for me. I made myself necessary for you. I obeyed your hardest orders. I found out ways to please you. I fetched and carried for you. I ran to anticipate your lightest wish, as though I was your adoring son. It was 'I hope you're satisfied, sir,' and 'Let me do that for you, sir,' and 'I am glad to work overtime for you, sir, any time you wish,' while every minute I had to fight hard to keep from striking you dead!"

"I must go!" groaned Wainwright, shuddering. "I can't stand this. I"—

"Oh, I made you think me a paragon!" resumed the youth. "You took to testing my honesty and loyalty in clever ways that you thought I'd never discover. I stood the tests. Then you trusted me. You fool! As if the fact that I wasn't a crook proved I wasn't your enemy! You could see no farther than dollars and cents. When I didn't steal those or sell the market tips you gave me you thought I was incorruptible and devoted to your interests. And all the time I"—

"You were listening at the keyhole that day last summer," broke in Horrigan, "the time I pulled the office door open, and"—

"Then and always," answered Thompson, "and," he added, his eyes returning to Wainwright's, "I copied every confidential telegram or letter you sent. I took down in shorthand every private interview of yours. I tracked the checks that completed your deals, and when they came back from the vaults as vouchers I stole them. I've got proofs, I tell you—proofs—of every crooked transaction you have dabbled in for nine years. I've secured proofs of every step in this borough franchise bribery, and I've turned them all over to the mayor here. That evidence will send you to state prison! To state prison, I tell you! To a cell, with cropped hair and striped suit! I'll send you to prison, where you'll break your heart and be branded forever as a convict! And when your term is up I'll be waiting for you, and I'll kill you! Do you hear me, you foul criminal?" he shouted, screaming hysterically and foaming at the mouth in his abandonment of insane fury. "I'm going to kill you! To kill you!"

CHAPTER XVIII.

UNDER the maniac fury that blazed from Thompson's eyes Wainwright shrank back in panic dread.

"He's—he's mad!" cried the financier. "Don't let him at me!"

For Thompson seemed about to hurl himself on his foe.

"Go easy, son," adjured Phelan, laying a restraining hand on the secretary's shoulder.

The latter, recalled to himself by the pressure, relaxed his tense, menacing attitude and, with hysterical revulsion of feeling, sank into a chair, burying his face in his arms on the table before him.

"Nine horrible years!" he sobbed brokenly. "Nine awful years of slavery, of debasement! Watching, hating, longing to crush him, and, oh, the time has come, thank God! Thank God!"

"You're all in, lad!" muttered Phelan, passing an arm about the shaking youth and lifting him to his feet. "Come with me. I'll send out and get you a bracer."

Thompson, exhausted by his emotions, obeyed mechanically, but at the farther door paused for a moment and again fixed his wild, bloodshot eyes on Wainwright's haggard face.

"Remember," he threatened, his voice dead and expressionless, "when you get out of jail I'll be waiting for you. And as sure as God's justice lives I'll kill you as I'd kill a dog! Nine years waiting and—I'll murder you as you murdered my"—

Phelan had forced him over the threshold, and the slamming of the door behind the two seemed to break the strange spell that had fallen on all.

Wainwright straightened himself, glanced fearfully about, tried to regain his shaken composure and opened his mouth to speak. But the hurried entrance of Williams prevented him.

"Mr. Horrigan," gasped the excited newcomer, "I've been looking everywhere for you!"

"What's wrong now?" snapped the boss. "Has"—

"The Borough bill's come up at last, and"—

"The gallery crowd's rough housing the place? Then"—

"No, they're quiet as death; too quiet. And they have long ropes, and they're stringing them over the"—

"Call in the police, then!" ordered Horrigan. "Now's the time for them."

"I don't dare," protested Williams. "Those men in the gallery are desperate. They're dangerous. If"—

"The police?" interrupted Bennett sharply. "What are you talking about?"

"My orders!" returned Horrigan. "I sent for them. Tell them to"—

"Don't do it!" commanded Bennett in anger.

"Do as I say, Williams!" countermanded Horrigan. "Have them in and"—

"Phelan," interposed Bennett as the alderman, having left Thompson in other hands, came into the room, "go to the sergeant in charge of the police Mr. Horrigan sent for. Tell him I say he must keep his men where they are and take no orders except from me. Understand?"

"I sure do!" grinned Phelan, with a delighted grin at the wrathful Horrigan. "An' I'll see they"—

"You need not trouble!" croaked Wainwright, his throat dry and constricted with fear. "The bill is withdrawn!"

"That goes!" corroborated Horrigan. "Do you hear that, Williams? Mr. Wainwright withdraws the Borough bill. Attend to it in a rush, man. Never mind about the police."

"Well, Friend Horrigan," blandly observed Phelan as Williams hastened out, "I told you I'd cross two sticks of dynamite under you some day. Likewise I done it."

"What had you to"—

"To do with smashin' you? Only that I put his honor on to the bill in the first place an' then sicked him on to Roberts an' discovered Thompson an' turned him over to Mr. Bennett. That's about all. But I guess it's enough to make your p'litical career feel like it had a long line of carriages drivin' slow behind it. Chesty Dick, my old chum!"

Horrigan had turned his back on his victorious tormentor and was facing the mayor.

"Bennett," said he, "you forget I've still got that report about your father, and"—

"Tomorrow's papers will publish it," supplemented Alwyn.

"No, they won't," contradicted Horrigan. "That would be bad politics. The report will hold over till"—

"You're mistaken," interrupted Bennett calmly. "I've sent a copy of that report today to every paper in the city and have accompanied it with a statement that I shall make good to the city treasury every penny overcharged in the library and aqueduct contracts. So"—

Horrigan was staring at him open mouthed.

"Bennett," he muttered in genuine wonderment, "I don't know whether you're the craziest fool or the cleverest politician in the state."

"Your honor," humbly pleaded Wainwright, who for several minutes had been trying in vain to draw Bennett aside for a private word, "I am an old man. Is there no way of—of showing me mercy in my"—

"Yes," retorted Alwyn. "You shall receive exactly the same mercy you have always shown to your own financial enemies—no more, no less."

"Oh, cut out the whine, Wainwright!" sneered Horrigan in high contempt as he linked his arm in the broken financier's and hauled him roughly from the room. "What's happened to your nerve? You're almost as bad as Gibbs. You're still rich, and as long as you've got plenty of cash no law in America need ever bother you. There's lots of talk about indictments, and arrests, and investigations, and prosecutions, and all that sort of rot. But I don't see any millionaires going to jail. Come on across to my lawyer's."

The boss and financier departed without a backward look, leaving Phelan and Bennett alone on the late scene of battle.

"Say, your honor," observed the alderman slyly, "there's one very important engagement you've clean forgot. Sit right where you are a minute, an' I'll send the party in here and see that nobody butts in on you till you want 'em to. Oh, but we didn't do a thing to Horrigan! He'll have to watch which way his toes point to see whether he's goin' or comin'!"

The alderman sped on his mission, leaving Alwyn seated alone, dejected, miserable, ... the deserted committee room.

Now that the crisis was past, his heart was strangely heavy. He had won. But at what cost? At the loss of all he held dear.

Alwyn Bennett knew, too, that the real fight was but just begun—a fight that had waged since the world began and must last to judgment day—the hopeless, uphill battle of decency against evil, of honesty against graft.

Horrigan's sneering words, "I don't see any millionaires going to jail," stuck disagreeably in the young mayor's memory. Their brutal, bald truth jarred on his belief in the inevitable triumph of good. After all, was the dreary, self sacrificing battle against an unconquerable foe worth while? Could the great god graft ever be checked in his mastery of the earth? If—

"I love you!" she said.

A rustle of skirts startled Alwyn from his dark thoughts.

"Dallas!" he cried, unbelieving, as he sprang to his feet half dazzled at the wondrous light that transformed her face.

Slowly she came toward him, her glorious dark eyes on his, her white hands outstretched in irresistible appeal. At last she spoke.

"I love you!" she said.

THE END.

Getting Back at England.

"The English will ridicule us for saying 'vury' and 'turrible' and 'momma' when we go abroad," said a schoolma'am, "but we will have our answer ready.

"We'll ask them why, when they want to know if we desire a cab, they say:

"'Fo wella, sa?'

"We'll ask them why they say 'pawtah' and 'waitah' and 'Indiar' and 'idear.'

"And, not forgetting the 'h,' we'll quote at them the dialogue between the mistress and the new maid:

"'Is your name Anna or Hannah?'

"'Hannah, mum.'

"'Oh, Hannah?'

"'No, mum; Hannah.'

"'Hannah, you said.'

"'No, Hannah.'

"'Spell it.'

"'Hay, hen, hen, hay!'"

Kodol

What It Is—

Is a liquid and digests ALL foods.

Because food must digest.

Undigested food causes trouble sooner or later.

Long continued indigestion results in various kinds of dyspepsia, rheumatism, neuralgia and other diseases, hard or impossible to cure.

At the least, indigestion deprives the system of nourishment. A poorly nourished body falls an easy victim to the prowling microbes of contagious and infectious diseases.

Someone had to make a digester—a perfect digester.

We did it and named it Kodol!

Why It Is—

The perfect digester must be in liquid form so that its action may be as quick as it can be swallowed. The perfect digester must be harmless. Kodol contains no narcotic or other hurtful ingredients. The perfect digester must have tonic qualities.

Kodol is a liquid.

Kodol increases food-enjoyment, and that without the ill-effects of tonics based on stimulants.

Kodol is the result of a careful analysis of all of the digestive fluids in the mouth, stomach and intestines, and of observation of their effects separately and in combination, on all classes of food that people eat.

Albumen is digested by pepsin. Kodol contains pepsin. It also contains hydrochloric acid because pepsin cannot do complete work without it; and pancreatin because that, too, is necessary. There are fats and starch and other food elements, to be looked after.

Kodol will take care of any or all.

What It Does—

It stops indigestion, by taking the place of the digestive fluids. It prevents disease by reducing the tendency. It tones the system by restoring (not stimulating) the appetite. It induces sleep without being a sedative. It empties the bowels without purging. It gives Nature a chance to cure. It prevents nervous dyspepsia.

How It Does It—

In Nature's way.

It will not cure anything. No medicine will. Nature is the only cure for bodily ailments or accidents. A surgeon can't mend a broken leg. A doctor can't cure dyspepsia. The surgeon sets the bone in place, puts the leg in a plaster cast and helps the patient let Nature do the mending. The physician tries to take the strain off the part of the system affected by the dyspepsia or other disease so that Nature can effect its cure. So Kodol works.

It rests any part or all of the digestive apparatus and lets the worn-out section rest in a perfectly natural way.

How To Prove It—

Try Kodol at our expense—we don't doubt the result. Once tried, you will wonder why you have delayed so long. Don't hesitate because other so-called digesters have failed you. They couldn't help you.

Kodol will digest any food element anywhere—at any time. In a test tube—where you can watch it, if you choose—provided of course you keep it at stomach temperature and in motion.

Better try it—in stomach, tube or both.

Our Guarantee

To prove to you without risk what Kodol can do, we ask you to go to your nearest druggist, and get a dollar bottle. If, after using same, you can honestly say, that it has failed to benefit you, go back to your druggist and he will return your money without question or delay, and we will pay the purchase price of the first bottle.

Don't hesitate or delay; every druggist knows our guarantee is good.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The dollar bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

By Rail and Water

Mobile, Nov. 7.—The shops of the Mobile and Ohio started on full time today for the first time in several months.

Directors of the Norfolk and Western have declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent on the common stock. The dividend is payable on December 18 to stock of record November 30.

Newbern Sun 9th: "The revenue cutter, Pamlico, has been at Norfolk, Va., for a number of weeks undergoing some needed repairs and receiving a finishing touch. The cutter returned to this port today."

The Philadelphia Press in its issue of November 8 states that there is considerable more inquiry for tonnage to load for coastwise ports and freight rates are advancing and the general opinion is that within the next few weeks there will be a general resumption of business for vessels.

The Southern Railway has extensive export docks in Brunswick, Ga., and, in order to fulfill its government contract to deliver coal to Panama, will have to pass 30,000 cars of coal through Brunswick over its line from Atlanta. Hence the need of this road for additional facilities which the Brunswick company controls.

Roanoke, Va., Nov. 9.—D. A. Langhorne, of Langhorne & Langhorne, of Lynchburg, is here today making arrangements to proceed with his large contract for work in the coalfields of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, which was suspended some months ago. Orders to this effect have been given by the Chesapeake and Ohio.

Waycross, Ga., Nov. 13.—The annual visit of the board of directors of the Atlantic Coast Line, Nov. 19 and 20 is looked forward to with considerable interest here. Since the directors last visit the Coast Line's immense shops have been completed in every detail, and nearly all of their immense freight yards are complete and in use.

The Georgia Coast and Piedmont Railway Company has begun the survey for its new fifteen-mile extension to Brunswick, Ga., from Darien, while the Atlantic Coast Line already has extensive docks and terminal facilities in Brunswick, having an extension to that city from its main line which runs from Washington to Tampa. The Seaboard Air Line also reaches Brunswick over the tracks of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlanta.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 9.—Announcement was made today of the letting of contracts aggregating half a million dollars by the Florida and Georgia railroad company, of which John Skelton Williams is president and of an increase during the past month of 22 per cent in the business of that railroad. One contract is for the building of a 20 mile stretch of road at a cost of $300,000, the other for freight cars, amounting to $250,000. The management predicts a speedy resumption of normal business.

A contract, invoicing the sum of $5,000,000, has been let by the Pennsylvania railroad to the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company for the installation of all electric paraphernalia in the tunnel under the North river, which extends from Harrison, N. J., through to Thirty-fourth street and out to Jamaica, L. I., and also equipping train service. It will only be a matter of a very short time until every train operated in and out of New York city will be propelled by by electricity as a motor power.

After December 1st the Norfolk & Western road will make the same rate on domestic coal that it now makes on steam coal. At present a differential rate of 10 cents is in vogue, which means that a charge of $5 more a car is made upon domestic coal than upon steam coal. Figuring that a city consumes about 400 cars of domestic coal a year, this reduction works a saving to consumers of about $2,000. The C. & O. road put on this uniform rate some time ago and the Southern has had it all along.

A group of Russian capitalists has filed a petition with the ministry of ways of communication asking the ratification of the charter of a new joint stock company, representing a capital of 5,000,000 rubles, for the transportation of freights by automobiles in St. Petersburg, Moscow, Kief, Warsay, Odessa, and some other commercial and industrial centers. Representatives of this company intend to shortly visit England in order to purchase 80 motors for use in St. Petersburg.

The Tarboro Southerner of Saturday afternoon says: D. D. Wagner was awarded $12,000 damages against the Atlantic Coast Line late Friday night by a jury of eleven men who rendered a verdict after being out five hours. The case has become famous in local court annals as it attracted much attention last year and at this term of court brought forth powerful arguments for both plaintiff and railroad. When judgment is entered, it is understood the railroad will take an appeal to the Supreme Court. Mr. Wagner was awarded a similar amount at the 1907 November term of court.

Among bankers it is said there is every prospect that in the not distant future a number of railroads which for long time have been obliged to get along with temporary financing will be able to raise money on such terms that it will be possible for them to go forward with plans now held in abeyance. In fact, a number of roads having short term obligations which mature in the next year or so have turned down propositions of bankers to finance their prospective needs, taking the ground that, with the return of confidence after election, they will be able to obtain money on better terms.

Columbia, Nov. 9.—It is given out at the headquarters of the Southern road here today that all engineers and brakemen and other trainmen who have been laid off temporarily or who were on partial time, would be restored to full time. That thirty cars of 90 pound steel rail had been received to be immediately laid on the Augusta division and that fifty cars of lighter rail had been received to be put on the Charleston branch. All indications point to a general campaign of improvement along the Southern road. This is being made much of in the light of the recent election, but as a matter of fact the Southern has been letting its road rot ever since the panic and it was in bad fix before, the work just had to be done.

Washington, Nov. 12.—There were 3,764 persons killed and 68,989 injured in railroad casualties in the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30th, last, according to an announcement of the Interstate Commerce Commission. This is a decrease of 1,236 in the number killed and 3,297 in injured, as compared with the previous year. In the three months ended June 30th, there were 591 killed and 13,908 injured, a decrease of 1,752 from the preceeding quarter. The thirteen passengers killed in train accidents during the quarter is the smallest ever reported in the quarterly records. The collisions during the quarter numbered 820 and derailments 1,310, of which 130 collisions and 198 derailment affected passenger trains.

The Seaboard, Atlantic Coast Line and Southern railways are preparing for the annual Winter travel towards Florida and the South, which promises this year to exceed that of last season, owing to the resumption of business in the North. Tourist travel is a certain barometer of industrial conditions and last season the panic had a depressing effect upon travel purely for pleasure and recreation. The railroads will inaugurate their regular Winter trains from New York and will give service even superior to that of former years. Officials of these important trunk lines expect the most successful tourist season of years, and are making preparations therefor. Indications are that hotels and boarding houses throughout Florida will do an unprecedented business throughout the late Fall and Winter months.

Although the fall months are an off season for heavy railroad shipments, railroad officials say that business is exceptionally good and that a large increase is expected after the holidays. The fall months are generally devoted by commercial firms to the retail trade and there is little movement from the wholesale houses. The cotton movement, however, is good, and a number of lines report a slight advance over this time last year. In general shipments the month of October showed an increase over the preceding month of September, although October of this year did not equal the corresponding period last year. Despite the probability of an increase after the holidays, railroad officials say that there is not any probability of any car famine this year. It is said that all movements through Atlanta are now being handled without any delay.—Atlanta Journal.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company last week ordered seventy-seven new all steel passenger cars. Thirty-one of these will be constructed by the Pressed Steel Car Company and twenty-nine by the American Car and Foundry Company. Prior to this last order the company had placed requisitions for 200 similar cars, 110 of which have been delivered and are now in service. E. H. Harriman, who owns a controling share of the Georgia Central, is hard at work upon a policy of improvement upon that system, which will use up several millions of dollars. The Southern Railway is laying plans to reconstruct a great part of the road beds of the system, including the laying of new rails, the building of steel bridges, strengthening of steel bridges, strengthening of old ones, straightening of curves, and other extensive improvements, including large additions to the rolling stock. The Seaboard Air Line has under consideration similar plans for the improvement of that system. It is engaged upon the construction of large terminal facilities at Tampa, Fla., and it is estimated that the new construction account for the system will foot up $1,500,000.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 14.—The dry goods market closed firm with cottons, linens, men's wear, yarns and some lines of silks showing an upward tendency in prices. Jobbers are doing a very large trade for the season and are receiving better advance orders. Large sales of domestic cottons have been made recently.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 14.—The slowing down of the speculative pace in the stock market today from that of yesterday was due in part, no doubt, to the customary practices of evening up all financial transactions with the close of the week.

There was a garnering of profits accrued by those prompted by this sentiment. There was a marked decline, also from yesterday's furious activity. One or two items in the day's news increased the tendency to pause. One was the statement attributed to President Corey, of the United States Steel Corporation placing the present working of its mills at 60 per cent. of capacity, and putting forward the probable date for restoration of normal and healthful conditions of business to the middle of next Summer. The reaction of United States Steel was of strong sympathetic effect on the whole market. It was scarcely counteracted by the vigorous upward movement in some other stocks on the list. The New York tractions were amongst these, not only the stocks but the bonds of that group rising buoyantly The strength of this group and of some others led a good rally in the second hour, but prices weakened again sharply at the close.

Bonds were strong. Total sales, par value, were $4,400,000. United States 3s advanced 1-4 per cent. on call during the week. Total sales of stocks were 678,200 shares.

FINANCIAL MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New oYrk, Nov. 14.—Money on call nominal. Time loans very active but steady; sixty days 3 to 3 1-4, ninety days 3 1-2, six months 3 3-4. Prime mercantile paper 4 to 4 1-2 per cent. Sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers bills at 4.8375 to 4.8385 for sixty day bills and at 4.8585 to 4.8590 for demand. Commercial bills 4.83 1-4 to 4.83 1-2. Bar silver 49 7-8. Mexican dollars 45.

WEEKLY BANK STATEMENT.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 14.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $30,211,950 more than the requirements of the 25 per cent. reserve rule. This is a decrease of $68,025 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

The statement follows: Loans $1,-328,147,600, increase $5,005,500; deposits $1,403,522,600, increase $6,601,700; circulation $52,431,800, decrease $202,-341; legal tenders $79,004,500, increase $611,200; specie $302,088,100, increase $971,200; reserve $381,092,600, increase $1,582,400! reserve required $350,880,650, increase $1,650,425; surplus $30,211,950, decrease $68,025; ex-U. S. deposits $32,511,625, decrease $80,750.

The percentage of actual reserve of the clearing house banks at the close of business yesterday was 27.30. The statement of banks and trust companies of greater New York not members of the clearing house shows that these institutions have aggregate deposits of $1,078,426,800; total cash on hand $103,787,600, and loans amounting to $979,911,500.

FORMAL
Evening Apparel

FOR MEN

About proper dress for social functions, correct form draws rigid lines. There can be no compromise—no halfway methods—a garment must be simply beyond reproach.

Thus, evening dress affords the severest trial to which the specialist in ready-for-service apparel is subjected—and the test of tests in which we find the most cause for delight.

Only designers of "post-graduate" skill can evolve the sort of clothes in which the man of irreproachable taste will find no flaws. We have those designers.

SOUTH CAROLINA DISPENSARY CASE

Prominent Attorneys Cited By Judge Pritchard For Alleged Contempt.

RETURNABLE AT GREENVILLE

Developed Yesterday at an All Day Conference at Richmond—Trouble is Caused by Suits of Fleichman Co.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Richmond, Va., Nov. 14.—Judge Pritchard today cited Archbald W. Ray and Duncan C. Ray, prominent attorneys of South Carolina to appear before him at Greenville to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt. The case grows out of the action of the Commissioners in connection with the dispensary case of that State.

Further complications in the celebrated South Carolina dispensary scandal developed today at an all-day conference with attorneys, the Moultrie Mordecai, of Charleston, S. C.; Frank Carter, of Asheville, N. C., representing the Wilson Company; A. S. Barnard, of Asheville, N. C., and G. B. Lester of Charleston, S. C., representing the Fleischman interests, appeared before Judge Jeter C. Pritchard, of the United tates Circuit Court. The complainants made a motion that the Ray brothers be ruled for contempt in seeking to have Judge Pritchard's orders in which he took charge of the dispensary funds set aside or abrogated to such an extent as to allow them to recover the amount of the claim upon which A. W. Ray procured a writ of mandamus from the Supreme Court of South Carolina.

Judge Pritchard's rule is returnable December 21st at Greenville, S. C. The whole trouble arises out of the suits brought by the Fleischman Company and others against the commissioners appointed to wind up the affairs of the old South Carolina dispensary board of control on claims for whiskey purchased by the board from complainants before the institution was abolished. The entire amount involved is about $800,000.

AN EXCITING DISCUSSION.

In the Meeting of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14.—After an excited discussion, a proposition to exclude from future membership in the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Northern women who are now admitted by virtue of marriage to descendants of Confederate veterans was voted down today in the annual convention of the Daughters here.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14.—The State's voting in favor of the exclusion amendment were Florida, Louisiana, Alabama, Tennessee, North Carolina, Ohio and Utah and also Mexico. Among the States which helped defeat the amendment were Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas, South Carolina, and Virginia.

The constitution was amended so as to admit to membership the nieces of Confederate women and their descendants.

A report was made showing that through the efforts of the organization, Jefferson Davis' speech on "Withdrawing from the Union," has been printed in full in certain books which had previously abridged it.

ROOSEVELT TALKS TO BOYS.

He and Mrs. Roosevelt Visit the School Near Alexandria.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov. 14.—"Scorn to be guilty of any foul practices in your sports," said President Roosevelt today to the students of the Episcopal High School of Virginia, near Alexandria where he and Mrs. Roosevelt had gone by automobile to visit the school their youngest son Quentin is attending this Winter. Standing on the muddy athletic field with the sleet pelting down on him the President relished the athletic events of the annual field day and before leaving made a few remarks to the schoolmates of his son. He told them he believed in sports with all his heart and advised the boys to play hard when they played, but also to work hard when they worked. "Do your level best to win, but do it in a fair way," said the President.

PULLMAN COMPANY WINS.

In its Case Against the Texas Railroad Commission.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New Orleans, Nov. 14.—In the United States Circuit Court of Appeals this afternoon the case of the Pullman Company against the Texas Railroad Commission was again decided in favor of the Pullman Company. The case involved the order of the Texas commission requiring a reduction of about 20 per cent. in the charges of the Pullmans in Texas. The Pullman Company disputed the order. The case came on an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

A JAP SENT TO PENITENTIARY.

For a Murder Committed in Catawba County While With a Circus.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 14.—Henry Yamaguchi, a Japanese who, while at Newton, N. C., with a circus in October killed Kirkuchi a fellow countryman, because, as he claims, of the latter's cruelty to two Japanese children, was today sentenced in Catawba county court to 30 years' hard labor in the State penitentiary. The State prosecuted on a first degree murder charge but the jury rendered a second degree verdict.

TRIBUTE TO WAR HEROES

Monument Unveiled at Brooklyn To Memory of Prison Martyrs of Revolutionary War—Taft Was Orator.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 14.—While Cannon boomed awakening patriotic memories of those sailor and soldier heroes who died in British prison ships in the Revolutionary War, the prison ship martyr's monument at Fort Green Park, Brooklyn, was dedicated with impressive ceremonies today in the presence of President-elect Taft, Secretary of War Wright, Governor Hughes and thousands of people who thronged the knoll on which the tall Doric column stands.

Mr. Taft made the oration of the occasion and after the ceremonies left for Washington, where he will meet President Roosevelt tomorrow.

The monument, a plain shaft in the form of a Doric column, surmounted by a funeral urn, stands on a steep knoll beneath which lies interred the bones of 15,000 American prisoners who perished from fever and starvation in the rotten hulks of the Jersey and other English prisonships which lay in Wallabout Bay during the war of the Revoluution.

Secretary of War Wright, on behalf of the Nation, presented the monument to the State on behalf of which it was accepted by Governor Hughes. The granite shaft was unveiled by Miss Esther King Norton, grand daughter of General Horatio C. King and at her signal an immense American flag, whose starry folds enveloped the capital of the shaft and whose red and white bars enwrapped the column, edged slowly down the monument, revealing it in all its simple magnificence to the throng which rose to its feet and stood silently with bared heads.

Previous to the unveiling there was a parade of ten thousand soldiers and members of civic organizations. A gentle snow which later turned to rain, fell throughout the ceremony.

Upon his arrival Mr. Taft was taken to the Brooklyn club where he had luncheon with Governor Hughes and a few invited guests. After luncheon the official party took carriages and under the escort of a cavalcade of mounted troops, moved toward the park where the ceremonies were held.

Mr. Taft was introduced by Stephen V. White, master of ceremonies. The next President was given a salvo of applause. His address was listened to with careful attention.

Secretary of War Wright also rendered a tribute to the dead prison martyrs.

On behalf of the city the monument was accepted by President of the Board of Aldermen McGowan, and Daniel F. Cohalan, grand sachem of Tammany Society delivered the closing address after which taps was sounded by union veterans, who were prisoner during the civil war.

RECEIVER IS APPOINTED.

By Judge Boyd For the Greensboro Industrial News.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Greensboro, N. C., Nov. 14.—Upon application of certain creditors United States Judge James E. Boyd today appointed W. I. Underwood receiver for the Industrial Publishing Company, publishers of the Daily Industrial News, the only Republican daily in the State. The receiver will continue the publication and the vice president announces that the paper will be reorganized and put on a sound basis.

CARMACK MEMORIAL SERVICES

Will be Held Throughout Tennessee Today—Cooper Still in Hospital.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 14.—Most of the important cities and towns in Tennessee will hold Carmack memorial services tomorrow in which some of the most prominent men and women in the State will take part. Robin Cooper, who shot former Senator Carmack has not yet been removed from the hospital to the jail. His condition is not considered dangerous.

In a letter to President T. J. L. Brown of the State Fair Association, of Florida, William J. Bryan yesterday accepted an invitation to visit Tampa during the fair. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan will arrive in Tampa the latter part of January, going to Cuba for a short visit and returning, will spend at least a week in Tampa. Preparations are being made for Bryan day at the fair.

President-elect Taft has been invited by the Chamber of Commerce to be the guest of Spartanburg, S. C., on th occasion of a banquet to be given November 20th celebrating the building of the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio railroad to that city. The banquet will be attended by the Governors of five States, and the presidents of half a dozen railroad systems.

The Virginia railway has announced the awarding of contracts aggregating one million dollars for the construction of its winding gulf branch from Mullins, W. Va., where the Virginia crosses the Wyandotte.

A Paying Investment.

Mr. John White, of 38 Highland Ave., Houlton, Maine, says: "Have been troubled with a cough every winter and spring. Last winter I tried many advertised remedies, but the cough continued until I bought a 50c bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery; before that was half gone, the cough was all gone. This winter the same happy result has followed; a few doses once more banished the annual cough. I am now convinced that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best of all cough and lung remedies." Sold under guarantee at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

NEW SENSATION IN 'FRISCO SHOOTING

Morris Haas, Would be Slayer of Prosecuting Attorney, Commits Suicide in Jail.

HIGHLY NERVOUS CONDITION

Assistant District Attorney Heney Will Recover—Surgeons Locate The Bullet — Graft Prosecutions to Proceed.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—Morris Haas, who shot F. J. Heney yesterday committed suicide at the county jail tonight by shooting himself through the head.

One report says that the pistol with which Haas shot himself was concealed in his shoe where he hid it before shooting Heney. Another report says the pistol was secretly passed to Haas by a friend since his incarceration.

Condition of Attoney.

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—Calmed by the assurances that Assistant District Attorney F. J. Heney, who was shot yesterday in Judge Lawler's court room while in the performance of his duty is to recover from his wound unless some unforeseen condition develops public opinion was turned today toward the formation of concrete expression of a determination to continue with the trial of those indicted on charges of municipal corruption in the prosecution of which Mr. Heney has been the dominant character. Several leading attorneys of the city have volunteered to take up Mr. Heney's work as a matter of public duty and carry it to a conclusion.

The trial of Abraham Ruef, which was interrupted by yesterday's dramatic shooting, will be resumed Monday, it having been decided that the events in the court room did not prejudice the rights of the defendant, the jury not being present.

At conferences today between Judge Lawler, Chief of Police Biggy and Sheriff Haggerty, preliminary steps were taken to secure the court from further disorder or violence and to safeguard the rights of the defendant Ruef.

The vicinity of the court room will be patroled and a large force of police will be held in reserve.

Precautions have been taken to protect Ruef while confined in the county.

Morris Haas, who attempted to kill Mr. Heney was at the county jail under guard. No one was allowed access to him except representatives of the district attorney's office.

Mr. Heney and his family were the recipients of many messages of sympathy and cheer from all sections of the United States and from Europe during the day. One telegram that brought a smile from the pain-drawn face of the prosecutor was a message from President Roosevelt to Mrs. Heney.

Two X-ray photographs were taken today in order to locate the exact position of the bullet, which, it is thought, rests in the region of the vocal chords. The plates were submitted to the five surgeons attending Mr. Heney, after their consultation tonight, and they stated that Mr. Heney was resting easily and that his pulse, temperature and respiration were practically normal.

The bullet was located in the muscles of the lower maxillary. The bone was not shattered, and the doctors say they will perform an operation to remove the piece of lead tomorrow.

A mass meeting was held at Dreamland Rink tonight to consider the situation. The meeting was presided over by Mayor E. R. Taylor, and was addressed by a number of leading citizens who counselled the preservation of legal procedure and the prosecution of every one charged with the debauchery of the public service.

MURDER AND ROBBERY.

A Georgia Merchant Shot and His Store Robbed.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Perry, Ga., Nov. 14.—James H. Hall, a well known merchant and farmer, was shot dead at his store early today by unknown parties.

Hall lived on his farm between here and Marshallville. He was called to his store, it being stated that some one desired to make some purchases. Hall responded promptly to the call and while lighting the lamp in the store was fired upon. The short tore off the back of his head. Hall was found dead and his cash drawer open and robbed.

THE RESPONSIBILITY PLACED.

For the Railroad Collision Near New Orleans Thursday.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New Orleans, Nov. 14.—As a result of the coroner's inquest today in the wreck last Wednesday at Little Woods 12 miles from New Orleans, in which eight persons lost their lives and 23 more were injured, the jury tonight brought in a verdict placing the blame upon Engineer Wayne Blackburn and Conductor A. B. Keyes, of the Great Northern Express. It was the express train which telescoped four coaches of the New Orleans & Northeastern train from Hattiesburg.

CONVICTED OF MURDER

One Case Where the Insanity Plea Did Not Avail.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

LaGrange, Ga., Nov. 14.—Dr. J. M. Elliott, indicted for the murder of Geo. L. Rivers, was today found guilty in Troup Superior Court. Sentence was suspended pending motion for a new trial.

Rivers was a prominent hotel proprietor and business man. He was shot by Dr. Elliott while the latter with his family were guests of Rivers' house. Dr. Elliott, according to the testimony, was found by the propriety beating his wife. He was angered because the hotel man interferred with his domestic affairs and shot him dead on the spot. Indignation ran high at the time of the killing. The defense was insanity superinduced by opiates.

ROBBING THE MAILS.

Roy F. Bradley of Columbus, Ga., Charged With the Crime.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Columbus, Ga., Nov. 14.—Roy F. Bagley, chief clerk in the Columbus postoffice, was today bound over to the United States court by Commissioner Brown on the charge of robbing the mails. Bagley was caught by a decoy letter containing marked bills which were found on his person when he was arrested, according to the testimony of two United States postoffice inspectors. The amount of his peculations is not definitely known, but is said to be about $600. Bagley was released on bond.

In Lexington, Va., as a result of the heaviest storm ever known at this season of the year 10 inches of snow fell yesterday.
